Sonia summons Venugopal as race gains pace

Gehlot tells party MLAs he will accept high command's directive while staying as CM

K C Venugopal

THE Congress presidential election gathered frenetic pace on Tuesday with party president Sonia Gandhi summoning general secretary in-charge of organisation K C Venugopal for an urgent discussion, and Ashok Gehlot calling a late-evening meeting of Rajasthan MLAs before his departure to Delhi to meet Sonia.

Venugopal flew in from Kerala, where he was participating in the Bharat Jodo Yatra with Rahul Gandhi, to meet Sonia at her 10, Janpath residence. Sources said the two discussed the presidential election, nomination for which is scheduled to start from September 24.

After the meeting, Venugopal called Gehlot and asked him to meet Sonia on Wednesday.

At a meeting Gehlot called of party MLAs in Jaipur on Tuesday night, he said he will accept Sonia's decision on the party's presidential election when he meets her on Wednesday. Gehlot added that he will not only present the next state budget but also lead the party unit in the Rajasthan polls. According to MLAs present at the meeting, Gehlot indicated that he would continue as CM even after becoming AICC president.

Sources said after meeting Sonia, Gehlot will leave for Kerala to meet Rahul Gandhi. He will return to Delhi and stay there till the last day of nomination on September 30.

With Thiruvananthapuram MP Shashi Tharoor meeting Sonia on Monday and expressing his desire to contest, the high command has started preparing for the elections amid more state units adopting resolutions demanding the return of Rahul as party chief. Although Sonia told Tharoor that there would be no 'official' candidate, sources said the leadership has made up its mind to field a loyalist who is likely to sail through with the help of the handpicked electoral college of 9,300 PCC delegates.

Gehlot is reportedly the high command's first choice. For the record though, he has been saying he will try and convince Rahul to contest. Chhattisgarh CM Bhupesh Baghel, too, has said he will try and persuade Rahul to return as party chief.

Senior party leaders including P Chidambaram, Jairam Ramesh, among others, have demanded the next president be chosen by consensus.

MINISTER NIRANI FLAYS IAS OFFICER IN HOUSE

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE state government faced major embarrassment in the Legislative Council on Tuesday after Industries Minister Murugesh Nirani accused a senior IAS officer of not clearing a file related to a sugar factory. In a rare instance, the minister even named the officer in the House.

Nirani's remarks during a debate on sugar factories exposed a lack of understanding between the ministers and officers, drawing flak from the Opposition members.

"The sugar minister is doing good work and encouraging sugar industries, but department secretary Pankaj Kumar Pandey, who is here, has not given the lease agreement for the last two years, despite being told by the chief minister and the sugar minister," Nirani said, pointing towards the officers' gallery in the Council. The Pandavapura Cooperative Sugar Factory in Mandya was given to Nirani's firm Nirani Sugars Limited on a lease for 40 years. Expressing his displeasure, the minister, who is also an industrialist, said he invested ₹50 crore to start operations. "He (IAS officer) has not given the lease agreement. As a minister, I am not sure if I can speak about it here. I feel sad about it," Nirani said.

His statement led to a furore in the Council as opposition Congress and Janata Dal (Secular) members hit out at the government. "If this is the situation of a minister, imagine the state of affairs," said Congress MLC Prakash Rathod.

Minister for Textiles and Sugar Shankar Patil Munenakoppa, however, defended the IAS officer saying that officers have to follow the rules. Patil explained that Nirani's factory had sought stamp duty exemption and Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai will decide on it. Sources said the lease agreement was not signed as the stamp duty exemption that comes to around Rs 26 crore was not part of the tender conditions and it was not accepted by the government. The CM held two rounds of talks and it was decided that the tax will be initially paid by the government and later the company will pay it back in instalments, sources said.

PFI started hijab issue, provoked students: State to SC

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

CLAIMING that till 2021 no girl was wearing hijab in educational institutions, the Karnataka government told the Supreme Court that the controversy broke out after a social media movement started by the Popular Front of India (PFI). Alleging that the "movement" was designed to create religious discord, Solicitor General of India, Tushar Mehta submitted that it wasn't a spontaneous act by the students but they were made part of a larger conspiracy and they acted as advised. "This upsurge (wearing of hijabs) is not part of their (students) thinking but started with an agitation in September 2021," Mehta said. He even referred to the Karnataka High Court order that had accepted the arguments of "unseen hands to engineer social disharmony" based on police documents.

He contended that for a practice to be considered essentially religious, it should be so compelling that if it is not worn they should be thrown out of the religion. Mehta submitted before a bench of Justices Hemant Gupta and Sudhanshu Dhulia that there was no averment by the students that the practice of wearing hijab started with the religion itself. "You cannot think of a Sikh person without a kadha or pagdi anywhere in the world. There was no averment by the petitioners that the practice started with the religion itself. Practice must be shown to be co-existing with the religion. There is nothing to show that this started with the foundation of the religion," Mehta said.

Putin looking to end war, claims Erdogan

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

WHEN Russian President Vladimir Putin met Prime Minister Narendra Modi during the SCO Summit in Samarkand on Friday last, he said he would end the war in Ukraine soon. In less than a week, Turkish President Recep Tayyip Erdogan has reaffirmed that Russia is considering ending the conflict.

Erdogan, who was present at the SCO Summit and had a bilateral with Modi, said on Tuesday his impressions after talks with Putin suggest there could be an end to the war, beginning with ceasefire.

In a related development, separatist leaders of Ukraine's Russian-controlled areas of Donetsk, Luhansk, Kherson, and Zaporizhzhia announced dates for a referendum to formally join the Russian Federation. Reports also suggest that Russia is mulling swapping 200 prisoners with Ukraine.

Twitter images of Ukrainian defender (L) Sova Serhiy killed in Izium, where mass graves are being exhumed amid allegations of genocide by occupying Russian forces. Serhiy's wife identified him from the bands on his hand. His son called the hand a "symbol of Ukraine's warrior, unbreakable & courageous"

Turkey has been actively trying to find some middle ground. "Together, we need to find a reasonably practical diplomatic solution that will give both sides a dignified way out of the crisis," Erdogan told the opening session of the UN General Assembly on Tuesday.

During the SCO Summit, Modi had told Putin that "this was no era for war". "We will do our best to stop this as soon as possible," Putin said in response.

"The war will end when both sides feel that it is best that they can get out of it. A similar situation occurred in March, when the two sides conditionally reached an agreement, but it didn't go through because one side decided it could get a better deal," said P S Raghavan, former Ambassador to Russia. 'Gauri' bags international award

BALA CHAUHAN @ Bengaluru

WELL-known Kannada film director Kavitha Lankesh's documentary 'Gauri' - based on the life of her sister and slain journalist-activist Gauri Lankesh, has won the 'Best Human Rights' film award at the Toronto Women's Film Festival 2022. "I am thankful for the recognition the film has received. It was an extremely traumatic journey for me and my cameraman Deepu. He was with Gauri through her activism," Kavitha told TNIE.

The documentary has also been selected for the South Asian Film Festival of Montreal and is in consideration at Doc New York, International Documentary Film Festival of Amsterdam, Sundance Film Festival and other festivals across the world. 'Gauri' was commissioned by Free Press Unlimited, Amsterdam, whose mission stems from Article 19 of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights.

"Last year, they had called for proposals on documentaries on journalists who have lost their lives in war or in acts of violence in the line of duty. There were around 300 proposals out of which Free Press accepted four entries. One of them was mine," Kavitha said.

She said that before submitting the proposal to Free Press, she had asked herself whether she would be able to weather the trauma yet again, of tracking and filming the life of her sister, whose journalistic career was dotted with her activism for people, whose voices are seldom heard till that fatal evening of September 5, 2017 when Gauri was assassinated just outside her house in Rajarajeshwari Nagar in Bengaluru. NOT AGAIN! GAPING HOLE IN SUMANAHALLI BRIDGE

BBMP takes up repair work, blames BDA; Traffic pile-up likely

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

The concrete on the Sumanahalli Bridge came off exposing the iron framework

BRUHAT Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike's (BBMP) shoddy work has once again come to light. Early Tuesday morning, a hole was detected in Sumanahalli Bridge, with a block of concrete coming off and exposing the iron framework.

The hole was noticed by a few motorists on the bridge, who claimed they could spot vehicles passing on the road beneath. They immediately informed Kamakshipalya Police Station as traffic was hit.

BBMP Engineer-In-Chief BS Prahalad said the bridge was originally built by BDA, using the beam and steel concept, and has developed some issues. The bridge, connecting Goraguntepalya, comes under BBMP, which has taken up repair work.

"We received information about a hole on the bridge at 9.15am. We called BBMP engineers from the Major Road Section. The area was filled with a mix and barricaded. Full-fledged repair work will be taken up from Wednesday. Engineers said work will begin on the Nayandahalli-Goraguntepalya section of the bridge, and may have to be closed. There could be traffic congestion in the surrounding areas," said Harish MT, Kamakshipalya traffic inspector.

The bridge was in the news two years ago for a similar reason -- a gaping crater in the middle of the flyover which had led to much public criticism. The Palike had taken up repair work.

Prahalad told TNIE that the bridge was originally built by Bangalore Development Authority (BDA) in 2004 and handed over to BBMP in 2015. "There is some damage. We will go for a 'non-destructive test' where a machine with ultra soundwaves will be used to detect damage and bad quality. Bureau Veritas, an engineering firm, has been roped in to conduct a study and give a report. For now, BBMP will start repairs on Wednesday, and the spot has been barricaded." said Prahalad.

Edu dept cracks down on 'illegal' schools

SHILPA P @Bengaluru

AT least 27 schools in Bengaluru have been listed as "unauthorised" by the Department of School Education and Literacy for functioning without registration under the Karnataka Education Act. The department has issued notices to all the 27 schools.

These schools are the first batch of unauthorised institutions to be listed as part of the department's statewide scrutiny of 35,000 private schools. This comes after School Education and Literacy Minister B C Nagesh was informed of 10 to 15 schools continuing to function without registering under the Act, following which he ordered a detailed scrutiny of over 35,000 private schools across the state.

The schools that have been listed include 11 in Bengaluru North education district and 16 in Bengaluru South district. In Bengaluru South district alone, there are over 925 children in the 16 schools.

In Bengaluru South, besides serving notices, four schools were closed. In Bengaluru North, an FIR has been registered against one school and the children shifted to a different school.

In Bengaluru South district, officials have also found 40 schools which have started some classes without permission and one of them has been closed and transfer certificates issued to the children. Also, 17 schools were found to have been shifted to different locations without the permission of the education department.

As per the documents available with TNIE, these schools include some prominent ones.

Besides, according to the department officials, there are more than 400 schools in Bengaluru South district which have not got their recognition renewed.

Besides the schools which have neither registered nor renewed their recognition or affiliation, there are also a few schools which have transferred ownership or management without permission from the department, officials said.

Department of Public Instructions Commissioner Dr Vishal R said, "We are coming up with an online module for submission of documents of all the private schools to ensure they are registered, affiliated/recognized. We are also coming up with an offline module for verification of those documents. The plan is to regularise all these schools by the next academic year to protect the interests of children."

BBMP brings down another wall, shed

On apartment owners' plea, HC stays demolition notice

Bengaluru: Hearing a petition filed by the Purva Parkridge Apartment Owners' Association, challenging the notice issued by the BBMP on the encroachments by the Association members, the High Court on Tuesday passed an ad-interim stay order of the notice and all further proceedings till the next date of hearing. Justice R Devdas passed the order after issuing a notice to the BBMP on the petition challenging the demolition notice dated September 14, 2022. A senior counsel, representing the association, argued that the BBMP action seeking to evict the occupants and demolish the structures has already been brought to the notice of the court and various orders of stay have been passed by the court.

THE Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike continued the encroachment clearing drive from storm water drains in Mahadevpura Zone for the eight day on Tuesday, demolishing structures at Doddakannelli and Kasavanahalli. BBMP excavators razed a 2.4-metre compound wall on a Salarpuria property and a shed at Kasavanahalli.

A structure on the 80-metre rain gutter on the east and west side of Bagmane tech park will be cleared by the park authorities. "Both Wipro and Bagmane authorities have agreed to clear the obstructions from storm water drains and we are monitoring this. Work at Wipro has been completed," said Basavaraj Kabade, Chief Engineer, Mahadevpura Zone.

The Palike will again deploy its excavators on Wednesday at the 10-acre Greenwood Regency next to Wipro and ensure that the obstructions to drains are cleared for smooth flow of water to the 61- acre Saulkere (lake) which is just a few metres away from these properties, the official said. At Kasavanahalli, one shed was razed on Tuesday, and four more will be cleared on Wednesday.

Meanwhile, Puravankara Ltd got a stay from the Supreme Court to the clearance drive on its premises.

Panel on moral science to be set up in Oct: Min

DONNA EVA @Bengaluru

APART from the controversy on the introduction of Bhagavad Gita in moral science subject, there is still little clarity on how moral education will be implemented with only two months left of the academic year.

On Tuesday, Education Minister B C Nagesh said a committee will be formed in October to decide on the implementation. "In the first week of October, a seminar will be conducted and everything will be finalised. On the outcome of this, a committee will be formed to determine what is to be taught in the classes," the minister said.

He pointed out that moral science was taught in previous years. "Parents want moral education classes as they believe that the main purpose of education is to build character in the child," he said.

However, development educationist Dr Niranjanaradhya V P said the National Curriculum Framework (NCF), 2005, had clearly stipulated how value education is to be imparted to children. "It clearly states that there is no need for a separate class to teach morality to students. Instead, it suggested that moral science be taught alongside other lessons, like teaching character building and sportsmanship through the use of sports," he said.

On speedy implementation of classes, he said the state of education is currently in turmoil in Karnataka, with many issues being overlooked and no clarifications given. "This is done as agenda pushing... They are scared they will not win the next election, which is the reason behind the hasty implementation," he said.

PETER VIDAL

21ST September: More about this week's theme - astrology and literature. Geoffrey Chaucer, the great English poet who lived about six hundred years ago actually included a lot of astrology in his tales. In one story he included a young maiden and actually called her May in order to demonstrate her connection to Venus, that month's key planet, and ruler of love. May, of course, is a month often identified with passion.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
By now you're probably wondering if your personal life will ever be the same again. The answer is probably 'no'. The reason is, whatever your first impressions, that this is a period of long-term improvement: to welcome in the new, you must be prepared to wave farewell to the old.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
There is nothing unsaid which may not be brought into the open. In fact, the more prepared you are to utter various home truths, the more likely you are to earn the respect of your fellows. Not everyone will be pleased, mind you, and you might have to apologise - at least once!

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
Astrologically speaking the Moon is under your control today. In other words, you have the decisive say in what happens at home. You are also responsible for your own feelings and can therefore blame nobody else if you are not happy with the way things turn out.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
Your deepest desire will be not only to spend extra time at home, but hide yourself away completely. This is typical behaviour and so should surprise nobody, least of all you! However, by tomorrow your confidence will be growing - and you'll be back in the driving seat.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Life's normal little complications are bound to continue. However, you may take advantage of the fact that Venus' position is now absolutely ideal for your romantic life, whatever your age, circumstances, experience or inclinations. Go out there and be your charming best.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
One of the major issues of the moment is security. However, the stars suggest that more important considerations are emotional happiness and peace of mind, and that might be why you'll be seeking romantic commitment - and testing a loved one's loyalty.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
A partner still seems to be irritable or short-tempered, perhaps because they're not getting what they want. Unless you are ready to follow a struggle through to a successful conclusion, please try to be just that much more flexible and accommodating over all contentious personal issues.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
The fact that this is a relatively prosperous phase should insure you against the inevitable minor fluctuations in your income and give you the confidence to make more definite plans for the future. One word of warning at the moment is not to push yourself so hard that you end up worn out.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
There is a fair amount of tension in the air today, probably caused by a combination of some people who can't decide what they want and others who are determined to strike extreme postures. People are trying to break free from emotional chains: be patient, and be tolerant.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
You have every reason to strike a militant pose, standing up for yourself and defending your own interests. You may have to take on more than one job at once, spreading your talents around. Also, do try to find some time for socialising - you deserve no less.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Keep your nose out of other people's business, no matter how tempting it may be to interfere. There is too much going on in your world for you to dissipate your energy on other people's affairs. Instead you should concentrate on getting your own life together.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Your personal and professional lives seem to be coming together in a way which is nothing if not fortuitous. Even those of you not currently in paid employment will gain from pursuing worldly interests. The stars' advice is to plan for the long-term.

WORLD ALZHEIMER'S DAY

Free dementia clinics to check for disorders today

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

MEMORY screening camps and free dementia clinics are to be organised in Bengaluru, Chikkaballapura and Kolar districts to identify cases of dementia and related disorders, for World Alzheimer's Day on September 21.

The National Institute of Mental Health and Neurosciences (Nimhans) organised screening camps in Chikkaballapura and Kolar, where senior citizen groups and high-risk patients aged over 55 years were screened to identify dementia cases. The initiative was taken up as a part of the Karnataka Brain Health Initiative (KaBHI), launched in January 2022. Various brain health awareness activities were also conducted. Memory screening camps and brain health awareness activities will be conducted at Jayanagar General Hospital, Bengaluru, on Wednesday.

A 'Keep Your Memories Alive' campaign is also being conducted in these districts with the support of the Department of Health and Family Welfare.

Nightingales Medical Trust, Bengaluru, will also organise a one-day free dementia clinic for people with dementia and related disorders. It aims to provide dementia diagnosis and post-diagnostic support, besides free online memory screening for senior citizens through 'Demclinic', which is accessible till the end of October.

The World Alzheimer's Report 2022 will also be released, with contributions from Nimhans experts emphasising the need to develop dementia intervention programmes that are integrated into the collective system in the country. The executive summary of the project 'Strengthening Responses to Dementia in Developing Countries – STRiDE' conducted at Nimhans in collaboration with the London School of Economics, Alzheimer's Disease International, and Alzheimer's and Related Disorders Society of India will also be handed over, with recommendations to improve dementia care in India.

Couple attacked metres from top cop's office

MANJU SHETTAR @Bengaluru

A group of four youths attacked a young man accompanying a girl near Balekundri Circle late Monday night, exposing how vulnerable people are on the streets of Bengaluru. The group was armed with a sword-like object.

Despite the incident occurring on Ambedkar Veedhi, within 300 metres of the Police Commissioner's Office on Mahaveer Jain Road (Infantry Road) and less than 1km from Vidhana Soudha, a high-security zone, no policeman was at hand to protect the young man. He survived with a slash on his hand by one of the attackers. The incident occurred around 10.15pm.

A video grab shows some youths brandishing a sword-like object and charging at their victims, even as traffic moves around them, near Balekundri Circle on Monday

Worse, several attempts to contact the police control room by various people, including a journalist from The New Indian Express, went in vain as the number (112) remained busy. It was only when a call was made to the Vidhana Soudha police inspector, did a Hoysala patrol team arrive at the scene, albeit 30 minutes late. The attackers and attacked couple had left the scene by then. Police later said the armed youth was in love with the girl, and was upset that she was with another man. The four followed the couple and tried to attack the man.

The reason behind the attack notwithstanding, the fact remains that the targeted couple had no help from the police or public, despite it being a busy road. Shocked commuters stopped their vehicles but did not intervene on seeing the weapon and aggression of the youths. Nagesh K, an eyewitness, said, "I ran out of office hearing a girl scream, and saw one youth brandishing a sword. He was slapping and raining blows on another youth after one of his associates hid the sword in a bush on the footpath. People refrained from helping the couple as the men were armed."

The police collected video footage from a nearby pub staff and left. The video of the high drama went viral on social media. Based on CCTV footage, three of the accused were taken into custody for interrogation. One of them is identified as Karthik. It is said that one of them had commented about the girl on social media, which had led to the clash.

Retired ACP BB Ashok Kumar, said, "It is a very serious case as miscreants terrorised the public by brandishing a sword in the middle of the road. It is shameful that the incident took place near the police commissioner's office, and the emergency number did not serve its purpose. Such incidents make public lose faith in the police."

HC restrains housing finance company from acting against Mantri flat buyers

ENS @ Bengaluru

THE High Court restrained PNB Housing Finance Limited from taking any coercive measures against apartment buyers for recovering any amount comprised in loan agreements and tripartite agreements.

It directed the RBI, PNBHFL and TransUnion CIBIL to process petitioner-buyers' claim for reframing CIBIL scores and issuing No Due Certificates. It also ordered Mantri Developers Pvt Ltd to comply with RERA orders, directing MDPL to return contribution amount to the complainants and discharge the loan raised in their names.

Passing the orders while partly allowing petitions by Mudit Saxena and 58 others, some of whom are settled abroad, Justice Krishna S Dixit clarified that the observations in the order should not be construed as constricting PNBHFL from taking up any proceedings for recovering loans from MDPL.

He said if the bank has erred in its business and suffers loss, poor borrowers who wanted to have a shelter, cannot be put to peril, the right of residence being constitutionally guaranteed under Art 19(1)(e). On PNBHFL's contention that the case of the petitioners should be relegated to ordinary civil remedy, Justice Dixit said the court cannot shirk its responsibility of adjudicating a fit cause brought before it. It cannot divert the litigant to some other legal clinic for treatment, the judge added.

The petitioners have booked apartment units with MDPL in terms of 'Pre-EMI Scheme'. Not being happy with the pace of construction, they withdrew their bookings.

However, in terms of agreement, PNBHFL had disbursed the loan amount directly to MDPL, allegedly without ascertaining the stages of construction.

6.6L beneficiaries not identified under housing schemes: CAG

Unlikely to reach the goal of housing for all by 2022; Some benefits reached wrong people, reveals report

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

A survey to assess the requirement of housing for urban poor was not effective, resulting in only 13.72 lakh beneficiaries being identified, instead of 20.35 lakh. The survey was also not completed within the cut-off date, while 49 per cent of beneficiaries were added subsequently, said the Comptroller and Auditor General (CAG) report tabled recently.

Only 3.43 lakh of 5.17 lakh approved beneficiaries for 2,472 projects were attached to the approved Approved Housing Partnership (AHP) and Beneficiary Led Construction (BLC) verticals. Since there was a validation gap using unique identification numbers, some beneficiaries drew multiple benefits under same/different verticals.

Actual benefits under AHP were extended to only 12 per cent of beneficiaries, while 44 per cent were not even part of the prospective beneficiary list, which allowed ineligible people to benefit.

A joint inspection of constructed houses revealed that 41 per cent were high-cost, multi-storey buildings with a carpet area of over 30 sqm and did not fall within the limit of Rs 5 lakh prescribed per unit.

AHP projects faced a fund crunch as the central government withheld Rs 1,003.55 crore due to non-fulfilment of prescribed conditions by the state government and due to shortage in collection of beneficiary contribution and ULB share of Rs 8,360.78 crore. This led to the cancellation of AHP projects and lack of civic infrastructure to completed houses.

Only 14 per cent of houses taken up by the Karnataka Slum Development Board (KSDB) under AHP were constructed and the rest were taken up individually. These projects do not have water supply, underground drainage, roads, electricity etc..

The central government withheld the first instalment of Rs 569.56 crore under BLC projects due to a shortfall in attaching beneficiaries to projects. For Direct Benefit Transfer payments, the validation through Aadhaar was not done for payments of Rs 172.64 crore to 12,757 out of 62,648 BLC beneficiaries. The audit revealed double payments of Rs 1.30 crore in 111 cases.

Lapses in mandatory monitoring under the Credit Linked Subsidy Scheme (CLSS) resulted in 471 beneficiaries receiving benefits under BLC and AHP too.

As of March 2021, projects were taken up for only 38 per cent (5,17,531 dwelling units) of beneficiaries under AHP and BLC. As against the approved 5,17,531 dwelling units (DUs), only 17 per cent were completed, 63 per cent were yet to be commenced and the remaining 20 per cent were ongoing. Chances of achieving the goal of 'Housing for All' by 2022 are remote.

K2 APP YET TO BE IMPLEMENTED FULLY

The Khajane 2 project is yet to implement all the planned processes into the K2 application, which is yet to achieve all its intended objectives and outcomes even after more than a decade of its conception, as the intended modules were either not completed or put to use, stated the CAG report. The project was rolled out incrementally from 2015 to 2021, impacting the changeover from K1 to K2 and limiting the capability of K2. Though the revision of Financial Codes were envisaged as a preparatory activity, it was not completed. Tracking funds drawn on grant-in-aid bills was not facilitated as there was no provision of monitoring the submission of utilisation certificates. "Go live" could not be declared due to delay in rolling out all the modules, and operation and maintenance were concurrently undertaken without modifying the agreement, it stated. The state government did not have adequate strategic control over K2 and the project was implemented around a work-flow engine proprietary to the system integrator, TCS. The project deviated from the agreed development model and timelines.

Municipalities Amendment Bill passed in Assembly

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

TO relieve people from rural areas of the hassle of taking the approval of the Town and Country Planning Department for their building plans, the Assembly on Tuesday passed the Karnataka Municipalities (Amendment) Bill 2022.

The cabinet sub-committee on e-khata, headed by Law Minister JC Madhu Swamy, had decided to get rid of technical difficulties in obtaining building plan sanctions in areas that do not fall under local planning authorities. The Karnataka Town and Country Planning Act stipulates the regulation of development of land in the areas other than the local planning area. To do away with the hassle, the Amendment had to be brought in. The bill regularises properties in pockets in gram panchayats that were added to urban local bodies based on their population.

But the Bill created a ruckus and triggered heated arguments between Congress and BJP members in the Assembly. Congress members, including deputy opposition leader UT Khader, said the bill might help real estate players, allowing them to develop illegal layouts without any civic amenities or roads. They said the decision could hurt the state more than help the people. They alleged that the government is allowing properties that are not assessed by the panchayats to be converted and given khatas.

Municipal Administration Minister MTB Nagaraju, denying the charges, said that not everyone can avail of the benefit.

Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai said this is a problem that has prevailed for a long time. The regularisation of properties is a complicated issue that needs to be solved one by one. "Through the amendment, we are only trying to help owners who do not have khatas, without which they cannot get loans or sell properties. The regularisation of properties within the planning authority is the Akrama Scheme that is before the court. What we have done now refers to properties outside the jurisdiction of planning authorities," he said.

The government is hoping for relief from the court on the Akrama-Sakrama scheme, he added.

The Karnataka Goods and Services Tax Amendment Act and Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanaagara Palike Amendment Bill were also passed in the Assembly.

Cong seeks discussion on lack of jobs

ENS @ Bengaluru

THE Congress members in the Council protested by entering the well of the House, demanding a discussion on the unemployment and corruption in recruitments, on Tuesday.

Opposition leader BK Hariprasad proposed an adjournment motion demanding a discussion on unemployment. However, members of the ruling party opposed it as the chairman had not permitted the same. The chairman allowed members to discuss whether it should be allowed. Minister and floor leader Kota Shrinivasa Poojari said adjournment motion can be moved only on one specific issue but the Congress members had proposed to discuss multiple issues, and hence adjournment motion can't be moved on their notice.

Congress and JDS members tried to convince the chairman to allow for a discussion while BJP members said the matter can't be taken up for a discussion, setting aside all other business of the House. Protem Chairman Raghunath Rao Malkapure said the adjournment motion can't be allowed but he will allow for the discussion under Rule 330 (raising of a matter which is not a point of order) limiting the discussion only on unemployment. But Hariprasad requested him to allow it under Rule 68 of the House so that several members can debate on the issue. As the chairman did not agree, the Congress members entered the well of the House. The House was adjourned for a while and after it was reconvened, Congress members again entered the well. After Poojari requested the chairman to allow for discussion giving more time, the chairman agreed and the Congress MLCs returned to their seats.

Safeguard innocents in PSI scam, say Siddu, HDK

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

AMID the furore over the alleged scam in the recruitment of 545 Police Sub Inspectors (PSIs) in the assembly on Tuesday, Opposition leader Siddaramaiah sought a judicial inquiry by a sitting judge, besides suggesting that the government safeguard the interest of innocent candidates.

JDS leader HD Kumaraswamy said innocent candidates should be separated from the accused, and issued appointment orders.

The duo differed, though, in their opinion about investigation into the scam -- Kumaraswamy observed that it was satisfactory, while Siddarmaiah expressed doubts about it. "The government had tried to hush up the case and cover up for politicians, so a judicial probe alone will expose those involved in the scam," Siddaramaiah urged, adding that the accused, former ADGP Amrit Paul, should be subjected to narcoanalysis.

But Home Minister Araga Jnanendra defended the COD probe in progress, saying it is efficient and transparent. "We have arrested 97 people, including 27 police officers, and the trial is going on," he stated.

He alleged that there was a scam in the appointment of PSIs in 2016-17, and the recruitment of teachers during the Siddaramaiah regime, but no action was taken. "But our government has ordered a probe into the scam, and the guilty will be punished," he added.

Meanwhile, the issue of Kanakagiri BJP MLA Basavaraj Dadesuguru's alleged involvement was also raised, and Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai promised it would be investigated. He alleged that one of the accused, RD Patil, was a Congress worker, while Congress MLAs alleged that Divya Hagaragi, the kingpin, was the Kalaburagi BJP women's wing president.

Law and Parliamentary Affairs Minister JC Madhuswamy alleged that Chittapur MLA Priyank Kharge had colluded with RD Patil, and hence, did not furnish evidence, especially the audio clip, to the investigation officer. Reacting to it, Priyank claimed that a newspaper had exposed the scam, following which he had held a press conference. "If you are fair, order a judicial probe," he challenged. Congress leader H K Patil took strong exception to Madhuswamy transferring the burden of proof to Priyank, who was the whistleblower.

Govt to probe sale of protein powders

Bengaluru: The State Government has decided to launch a probe into the illegal sale of protein powders recommended by gyms and others to gain muscle mass. Law Minister JC Madhu Swamy informed the Assembly on Tuesday that the government will initiate action against those involved in illegal sale of protein powders. Raising this issue during the zero hour, BJP MLA Satish Reddy said that a youth in his constituency had died after he consumed protein powder. "His heart and liver were damaged. The family spent more than Rs 50 lakh on his treatment. but he died. Many youths are falling prey to this," he said, adding that there is a need to check illegal sale of protein powders. When Health Minister Dr K Sudhakar suggested the need for a special drive by the Food Safety Department to catch the culprits, Speaker Vishveshwara Hegde Kageri suggested that the State Govern-ment conduct a fair scientific analysis and then take action. 9,432 police constable vacancies in K'taka: Araga

Bengaluru: Home Minister Araga Jnanendra informed the Assembly on Tuesday that there are 9,432 police constable vacancies and efforts are being made to fill the vacant posts. Replying to BJP MLA from Hassan, Preetham Gowda, Araga claimed that the number was less compared to previous governments of the last 20 years. "When our government came to power the police vacancy was about 22,000... but today the vacancy is only 9,432," Jnanendra said. He said the present government has already issue a notification to fill 3,500 posts and in the next on week, another order will be issued to fill 1,500 civil police posts. ENS

Will not roll back APMC Act: Minister

BENGALURU: Minister for Cooperation ST Somashekhar clarified that the government will not withdraw the APMC (Amendment) Act. Replying to MLC Nagaraj, who asked whether the state will repeal the Act like the centre withdrew farm laws, the minister said there is no opposition to the APMC (Amendment) Act, hence there is no need to withdraw the same. "The Act is farmer friendly as it allows them to sell their produces anywhere," Somashekhar said.

'No medicines at Janaushadhi Kendras'

BENGALURU: Congress MLC Saleem Ahmed said people were not getting medicines at Janaushadhi Kendras regularly due to alleged lobby by private pharma companies. Ahmed also alleged that a doctor in Dharwad had displayed a board stating that patients should not question her if they take medicines from Janaushadhi Kendras and did not get the expected results. The government replied that there was no shortage of medicines at the Kendras and action will be initiated against doctors discouraging people to buy medicines from there.

Kota: Schemes for labourers soon

Minister Kota Shrinivas Poojari said the government will soon convene a meeting with all stakeholders to chalk out schemes for the welfare of labourers. Congress MLCs M Nagaraju and Prakash Rathod raised the issue of increasing suicides among labourers in the Council on Tuesday. In reply, the minister said the Centre had categorised 379 unorganised sectors and was issuing E-Shram cards. "Around 79 lakh workers have already registered for it," Poojari added.

Quota for Panchamasalis: Decision after panel report

ENS @ Bengaluru

CM Basavaraj Bommai said the State government will decide on inclusion of the Panchamasali Lingayat community under 2A, after the State Backward Classes Commission submits its report. At present, the Commission is collecting empirical data on the community's demand to be considered under Category 2A of OBCs.

During zero hour, BJP MLA Basanagouda Patil Yatnal raised the issue to include Panchamasali Lingayat to 2A. He charged his own government, slamming it for not including the community under 2A, in spite of mutt seers and others protesting across the state. Replying to him, Bommai said if reservation has to be given or increased, it should be done under a legal framework. Even court insists that combined reservation should not exceed 50 per cent. In Karnataka, it is already 50 per cent, he said. Bommai said there are many communities under 2A which are demanding ST status, some are demanding SC, while many are demanding 2A. There is a provision under the Constitution to bring them forward through reservation, he said.

Onus on CM, Joshi to keep up their promise to Horatti

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI @ Bengaluru

WITH "original" BJP and RSS leaders opposing the nomination of West Teachers' Constituency MLC Basavaraj Horatti to the post Council chairman, the onus is now on Union minister Prahlad Joshi, Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai and former chief minister and senior BJP MLA Jagadish Shettar to keep up their promise to Horatti.

If all had gone well, elections to the posts of Council chairman and deputy chairman should have been held on Wednesday. The cabinet that met on September 14 had decided to send a proposal to the governor for his nod.

In the meantime, BJP state president Nalinkumar Kateel told Law Minister JC Madhu Swamy not to send the proposal. When Madhu Swamy said the decision cannot be retracted as it was taken in the Cabinet, Kateel spoke to Bommai.

Following Bommai's instructions, the proposal was kept on hold. With the session ending on Friday, the elections are unlikely. But if the government wishes, it can call a one-day session for the elections.

"But BJP national general secretary BL Santhosh has asked Horatti to speak to Bommai, Joshi and Shettar," a source said. Horatti, who held a brief talk with Bommai on Monday, now pins his hopes on the CM to convince the party high command.

Ruckus in Assembly over teacher recruitment scam

Bengaluru: The issue of appointment of 'illegal' teachers during the Congress regime of 2015-16 created a ruckus in the Assembly on Tuesday with the Opposition and Treasury bench members blaming each other for the alleged scam. Education Minister BC Nagesh said that so far 40 people, including teachers, involved in the scam have been identified. Raising the issue in the zero hour, BJP MLA P Rajeev alleged that several people who have not written the common entrance test for teacher recruitment have been given appointment orders and are serving as teachers. Calling it a shameful act, Nagesh hinted that the alleged scam had happened during the Congress regime. Deputy Leader of Opposition UT Khader said that the Congress too wanted a probe. ENS

Congress puts ear to ground, takes up survey on civic issues

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

WITH the elections round the corner, the opposition Congress has been actively gathering information from ground zero through a survey to prepare itself better. Many Bengalureans have been receiving calls from an unidentified survey agency, asking them if they are facing any problems related to road, water, streetlight or other civic amenities. The caller is usually conversant with Kannada, English and Hindi. Dozens of people have received calls over the last few days.

Some Bengalureans posted their responses to the survey on Facebook and other social media sites.

A senior woman journalist from the Shantinagar Assembly constituency said, "I got the call from 8050082448, which was the AICC war room number in Delhi. The caller asked whether I was facing any civic and other urban issues and how I felt about services of the area MLA and previous corporator, etc."

On verifying, it was found that it is Congress' initiative from New Delhi. The survey comes in the backdrop of polls in the state. KPCC president DK Shivakumar had referred to it sometime back while talking to the media.

KPCC working president and MLC Saleem Ahmed said, "The party is carrying out the survey to get feedback on the problems being faced by the people. It is being done ward wise to prepare for the upcoming polls."

Former Rajya Sabha member Prof Rajeev Gowda, who is head of the party's manifesto committee and co-convenor of the Better Bengaluru Committee, said, "There have been complaints arising out of tremendous dissatisfaction and anger among people. Many of these responses were evident during the recent floods. We have decided to come up with a vision solution and manifesto to empower the citizens. We are getting the inputs by calling the people directly."

The House committee probing allegations of data theft and illegal transmission tabled its interim report in the Andhra Pradesh Assembly on Tuesday. "There appears to be unauthorised and improper transmission of large amounts of sensitive data from the Andhra Pradesh State Data Centre to unknown external servers," the report stated.

2 grads held for links with ISIS

BALA CHAUHAN, RAMCHANDRA GUNARI, VINCENT D'SOUZA
@ Bengaluru/Shivamogga/Mangaluru

THE Shivamogga Rural police have arrested two engineering graduates for alleged affiliation to the banned terrorist organisation ISIS under Sections 120B, 121, 121A read with 34 of the IPC, sections 18, 38 and 39 of the UAPA, and Section 2 of Prevention of Insults to National Honour Act. According to sources, the police invoked the last Act after preliminary investigation revealed that the accused had allegedly burnt the National flag near the Tunga River.

Meanwhile, SP of Shivamogga, Laxmi Prasad BM told TNIE that the arrested "Maaz Muneer Ahmed (22) of Mangaluru and Syed Yasin (21) of Shivamogga are electrical and mechanical engineers. The third and the main accused Shariq (24) of Soppugudde village, Tirthahalli taluk is absconding. The arrested were produced before the court, and have been remanded to police custody for 10 days from September 20," said the SP, adding that the police had followed a lead from the Prem Singh stabbing incident in the city in August.

The Shivamogga police on September 19 registered an FIR against the three for having links with the terrorist organization at Shivamogga Rural police station. "The police have seized incriminating materials during the raids leading to the arrest of Ahmed and Yasin. They are hunting for Shariq, who has been earlier involved in a couple of cases," sources added.

According to Mangaluru city police commissioner N Shashi Kumar Ahmed, he was earlier arrested over pro-terror graffiti case in Mangaluru in November 2020 along with Shariq. Ahmed was then a third-year engineering student in a city college, and was working as a food delivery executive.

His parents on Monday had filed a missing complaint at the Mangaluru East police as they were allegedly unaware of his arrest by Shivamogga police.

Lean support for Tharoor from Cong in Kerala

CYNTHIA CHANDRAN @ T'Puram

DESPITE being a local MP, senior Congress leader Shashi Tharoor is unlikely to garner support of his Kerala camp if he decides to contest in the upcoming polls for the party top job. In his third term as Thiruvananthapuram MP, the 66-year old Tharoor still carries the outsider tag even in his own party, and is viewed as someone who favours the corporates. On the eve of Rahul Gandhi's Bharat Jodo Yatra's entering Ernakulam, focus is on Tharoor's decision to contest or not. However, Tharoor remains unfazed, and is camping in New Delhi.

A source told TNIE that he was keen to understand Sonia Gandhi's attitude to the idea of a free and fair election. "Sonia Gandhi completely supports a contest but she will remain neutral, and would not endorse an official candidate," the source said while many leaders are miffed with Tharoor for taking away the sheen from Rahul's yatra. Senior Congress MP K Muraleedharan told TNIE that the state leadership will endorse only the official candidate. "Tharoor has neither sought the support of State Congress leadership nor held talks with stakeholders. This reveals lack of support from the State unit," he said.

REGULARISE ALL 33K SANITATION WORKERS: POURAKARMIKA FORUMS

Mangaluru/Bengaluru: State Pourakarmikas Association has demanded that the state government regularise the services of all 33,000 sanitation workers. President of the Association Narayana Gowda told media persons in Mangaluru that Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai had announced on Monday that permanent status has been granted to 11,000 pourakarmikas while the rest are under direct payment. The All India Central Council of Trade Unions (AICCTU) also hit out at the state government for not regularising the services of all pourakarmikas. "This is an injustice to all pourakarmikas who are awaiting permanent jobs. We have protested in June, demanding regularisation and the CM had assured in writing that our demands will be met in three months, and a committee was formed which made suggestions to ensure social security. But on Monday only 11,000 were regularised," he said. He warned that if the government fails to fullfil their demand, they will halt waste management related works, and launch a massive protests. "The cabinet decision is disappointing. It is contrary to the written assurance of the CM to the pourakarmikas, who were on an indefinite strike. More than 27,000 direct payment pourakarmikas are working in urban local bodies of the state. All direct payment pourakarmikas should be made permanent," the AICCTU said in a statement.

4 held for selling baby

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Mysuru

POLICE have picked up four persons in connection with selling a baby in Chamarajanagar, and efforts have been stepped up to rescue her from a family in Mandya after a TNIE story "Mysore University transgender-scholar exposes baby selling incident in Chamarajanagar" was published on Tuesday.

The child protection officer from the Women and Child Welfare Department, Child Welfare Committee members, and the police along with others visited the family members who have sold the baby, and counselled them. Nagaveni, who is a heart patient, admitted that her husband Basava, a hotel staffer, had sold the baby to settle debts, and now, they want her back. The authorities have taken Basava into custody, and picked up four middlemen from Galipura in Chamarajanagar town.

Nagaveni has requested the officers not to arrest her husband as both are orphans, and have nothing to fall back on for livelihood.

Gauri was more than a sister, says Kavitha

The Special Investigation Team (SIT), constituted by the then Congress-led-Siddaramaiah-government, had arrested and named 18 accused in the charge-sheeted in the case, who reportedly claim allegiance to some fringe right-wing groups. The trial in the case is underway.

"It was a tough decision to make whether to do the film because Gauri was more than a sister to me. She was my friend, mentor and soul keeper. I have still to come to terms that she is not around. Making the film meant going back to those traumatic memories. But I felt that I must tell the story of this woman, who knew no fear when it came to fighting for justice and Constitutional rights of the people," said Kavitha.

"Shooting the film was cathartic because there are innumerable people, whose lives Gauri had touched. They remember her so fondly and miss her presence. She was threatened, had meagre resources but still soldiered on fearlessly," added the noted film director.

WFH OUTLIVES UTILITY, SEARCH FOR NEW WORK MODELS COMPLEX

Post-pandemic, the concept of work-from-home (WFH), or remote working, is dying a natural death. Under pressure, corporate houses, especially IT giants, are now attempting to return to the traditional work-from-office (WFO) model. What was believed to be a godsent during the pandemic era, marred by quarantines, lockdowns, and self-imposed isolation, has now become a millstone around their neck, with Gen Y staff refusing to revert to office. Initially, WFH made perfect business sense for companies. They counted savings in lease rents, electricity and water charges, cost of transportation, security and running canteen, among others. It gave them a clear advantage to hire talent from across the country and abroad and let them work from their preferred locations. The joy was, however, short-lived as a sense of ennui and lethargy swept across the home workplaces. Productivity, which initially showed a spurt, plummeted. Away from the managers' direct supervision, many employees slacked, and some turned to moonlighting.

A transition back to the old normal wasn't easy. Many companies now face defiance from the staff. The employees of one of the Indian giants, Tata Consultancy Services (TCS), have reportedly refused to return to the office and put a spoke in the company's plans to end the WFH arrangement. The company last year announced a new model called 25/25, which will require only a quarter of its employees in the office to be implemented by 2025. It apparently wants everyone in office before it begins its transition to the new model in a phased manner. But the defiant Gen Y staff have questioned the rationalisation of the HR policy.

So, what is the best way to attract and retain talent? In reality, embracing the WFH model was a pandemic-induced short-term requirement for most companies. A hybrid model of WFH and WFO, or work-from-anywhere with a fixed time in the office, are some of the new employment models that are being deliberated. Each company may have to consider their requirements and comforts before embracing a new concept. Taking care of the Gen Y staff, whose demands are far superior to that of older employees, and bringing in a suitable work-life balance for them will remain a Herculean task for companies.

WELCOME CHALLENGE TO ECOMMERCE DUOPOLY

As consumer buying increasingly shifts online, the slated launch of the Open Network for Digital Commerce (ONDC) by September end will give ecommerce the impetus it sorely needs. More importantly, it can provide millions of small sellers with a trading platform to reach buyers. In the process, the current platform-based ecommerce duopoly, where Amazon and Walmart-owned Flipkart control 60% of the market, will hopefully be broken. Set up by the government as a Section 8 non-profit company, ONDC is working in a few pilot cities and aims to go pan-India with a digital trading platform soon. From the operator-driven system controlled by a few, ONDC will bypass these platforms to be a facilitator network linking the buyer and seller. Once a deal concludes, a logistics company will pop up to deliver the product.

The shooting size of ecommerce is too big to be left to the control of a few monopolistic interests. From churning up expected revenues of $75 billion in 2022, Indian ecommerce may gallop 20–22% a year to touch $188 billion by 2025. Ecommerce will grow from 4% of the total food and grocery, apparel and consumer electronics retail trade in 2020 to 8% by 2025. As ecommerce grows, so will consumer complaints. The Rajya Sabha was informed that a whopping 5.12 lakh complaints about ecommerce were registered in the National Consumer Helpline between April 2019 and November 2021. In this context, the initiative by ONDC to publish its draft framework for dispute resolution very soon is laudatory.

A third-party agency will track the individual trail of orders and complaints. This will make the system transparent. Complaints will not disappear; neither will unscrupulous sellers be able to duck behind opaque systems. The 'open' network ONDC hopes to bring in will 'democratise' ecommerce in two crucial ways. First, the current private 'marketplaces' operated by Amazon and Flipkart deliver search results of merchants based on brands that give the operators bigger margins or have larger ad spends. The new network will allow every registered seller to be 'discovered' by the buyer apps. Second, the extortionist commissions charged works to exclude the smaller merchants. The ONDC network, on the other hand, will cap buyer-side commission at 3% and seller commission at 15%, making it consumer-friendly. Though all is good on paper, the litmus test will be: can it perform in the actual marketplace?

QUICK TAKE

SWEEPING JUDICIAL REFORMS

The Supreme Court proposes a universal approach for dealing with post-conviction hearings of convicts facing death sentences. The aim is to make the process uniform while humanising the judicial system. The reason is, usually, such convicts get to present their defence only after conviction, by which time the scales are tilted heavily against them. But then the entire system awaits the same universal approach to deal with systemic faults like an endless wait for bail, prolonged undertrial status, deferred appeals and worse, infirm prisoners' desperation for a straw and sipper or a mosquito net. Reforms must be comprehensive, not piecemeal.

Sycophancy served as a ladder for upward mobility and loudmouth leaders close to the dynast gained prominence

UDDHAV'S SENA: PARTY CADRES DESERT LEADERS

VINAY SAHASRABUDDHE

President, ICCR and senior BJP leader

SOUMYADIP SINHA

India's Independence struggle was marked by popular participation from every stratum of society and people representing various linguistic regions and all provinces of our far-flung nation. In our Azadi Ka Amrit Mahotsav celebrations, the government did extremely well in focusing on unsung heroes, mainly from tribal communities. There were many unique features of India's Independence struggle, but inclusivity was the most significant distinguishing factor. Although Gujarat, Mahatma Gandhi's home state, undoubtedly played a key role in our Independence struggle, four major provinces emerged as nerve centres of the movement. They were Tamil Nadu in the south, Maharashtra in the west, Punjab in the north and Bengal in the east. All these four states provided iconic leaders like Subramania Bharati, Lokmanya Tilak, Bipin Chandra Pal, Netaji Subhas Bose, Lala Lajpat Rai, Bhagat Singh and many others. These four provinces also had regional and linguistic identities of their own. Still, their leadership during the Independence struggle underscored the innate nationalistic spirit manifested in myriad ways.

Today, these four states present a different picture. Most provinces seem to have served as laboratories of linguistic-regional politics being exploited to pure partisan ends. Many parties here have done a great disservice to development politics. Dynastic politics has been a common connection between major provincial players in the politics of Tamil Nadu (DMK), Maharashtra (Shiv Sena and NCP), Punjab (Akalis) and West Bengal (TMC). While the Akalis in Punjab are struggling for existence, in West Bengal and Tamil Nadu, a kind of extremist regionalism is staring at the challenge posed by the nationalistic spirit represented by the BJP. Maharashtra presents a different scenario where Uddhav Thackeray's Shiv Sena has lost credibility and, consequentially, the larger narrative as well.

Shiv Sena came into existence ostensibly for the cause of Marathi manoos. It was true that Mumbaikars found themselves in the grip of a metropolitan-ism with non-Marathi-speaking people from other states cornering all major entrepreneurial opportunities and, in certain sectors, jobs as well. Historically, the traditional mindsets of the locals, as well as their obsolete complexes about entering into the service sectors, have always paved the way for demographic changes. This has happened in Assam, West Bengal and in Delhi too. Shiv Sena rode on a partly real, partly manufactured sense of insecurity and caught the imagination of Marathi manoos. However, except for making a strong political point and presenting itself as a party of Marathi manoos, Shiv Sena could do precious little to alter the ground realities.

All this happened for obvious reasons. While Bal Thackeray's charisma and the deterrence—at times bordering terror—created by the shakha pramukhs in nearby vicinities did play well, Shiv Sena had no credible solutions to the questions that its leadership had raised from the rooftops. Even in Mumbai, it couldn't prevent depletion of job opportunities for Marathi manoos or alarming demographic changes. Thanks to the complexities of the issues fanned by its rank and file, Shiv Sena under Balasaheb Thackeray decided to ride the Hindutva wave in the late eighties. The 'Kamalabai'—the nickname for BJP of late revived by Uddhav Thackeray's Sena—helped the latter by providing a larger and more inclusive issue in the form of Hindutva. Quietly, the narrative around Marathi manoos was pushed to the back burner.

In this journey, Shiv Sena cadres lost their motivation and became cynical, converting the once 'Mission Party' into a 'Machine Party'. Sycophancy served as a ladder for upward mobility. While loudmouth leaders close to the ruling dynast gained prominence, organisations like the Sthaniya Lokadhikar Samiti were pushed to the periphery.

During 1995–2009, the BJP ungrudgingly accepted that the Shiv Sena was their senior partner in the state and the latter too recognised the BJP as its senior partner at the national level. In fact, in the 1996 elections, the BJP sacrificed its Thane Lok Sabha seat after recognising the growing clout of the Shiv Sena. Prof Ram Kapse, a senior BJP leader, relinquished his well-cultivated constituency.

However, post-2010 and particularly after the demise of Bal Thackeray, things changed. The next-gen leadership refused to accept that post-May 2014, with Narendra Modi as PM and the most popular leader, the BJP had an obvious upper hand. A recalcitrant Uddhav Thackeray ended the alliance only to be revived through a power-sharing arrangement later. And then came 2019, when Shiv Sena stealthily joined hands with traditional rivals and created the Maha Vikas Aghadi, a political experiment based on an unnatural alliance between the Congress, the Shiv Sena and the NCP. Disregarding the desires of the Shiv Sena cadres, a government was thrust on the people of Maharashtra. What happened after that was nothing but a political miracle. In the absence of regular dialogues with party cadres, including MLAs and ministers, Uddhav Thackeray single-mindedly went ahead, accepted all the conditions of Sharad Pawar, and stitched an alliance that had neither any coherence nor any credibility. Known for always keeping his ears to the ground, Eknath Shinde revolted with the backing of almost the entire legislature party and rode to power with the support of the BJP.

While the legal battle is still undecided, it is educative to analyse what Eknath Shinde can probably achieve other than the obvious. Firstly, his revolt sounds like a bugle against the dynastic control of a cadre-based party. Secondly, the latest comments by Eknath Shinde that a cadre-based party like Shiv Sena cannot and must not be run like a private limited company has a clear message for many like the Akali Dal, the DMK and even the Trinamool Congress, provided they read the message. Thirdly, even in the face of a tempting inference that the days of ideology-based parties are over, people, especially in a state like Maharashtra, just cannot accept crass political opportunism in total disregard of ideological disparities.

The message is loud and clear. An ideology-driven cadre may refuse to fall in line and not do business at the grassroots level with their once diehard enemies of over several decades. Dynasties can rule but cannot take cadres for granted.

INDIA, CHINA FEAR RUSSIAN DEFEAT IN UKRAINE

SAIBAL DASGUPTA

Journalist, author and China expert

India and China are already preparing for the prospects of a Russian defeat in Ukraine and the consequences such an event can have on the future of Vladimir Putin and Russia's political scene. Prime Minister Narendra Modi told Putin "today's era isn't of war" when they met one-to-one on the sidelines of the Shanghai Cooperation Organisation meeting A piece of similar advice came from Chinese President Xi Jinping, who also told the Russian leader to end the war. Putin publicly acknowledged this fact and promised to address China's "questions and concerns" about the Ukraine war.

This is the opposite of what Putin must have expected from the two Asian leaders. Putin came to the SCO summit in Samarkand in Uzbekistan armed with arguments and plans to persuade these leaders, as well as those from Iran and Central Asia, to forge an anti-US front.

Putin has been trying to convince the two Asian leaders that several countries as a bloc must jointly counter the mechanism of economic sanctions used by the US because the mechanism would be used against them in the future.

As it turned out, both Modi and Xi did not buy his arguments. India and China refused to join the US-sponsored mandate to condemn and isolate Russia for the Ukraine war. They too had suffered the economic brunt of the war which disrupted commodity supply lines and gravely harmed the Indian and Chinese economies.

India and China want to end the Ukraine war before Russia suffers an ignominious defeat. A defeat for Russia may have more severe implications for both countries than the harm done by the war.

To some, a possible Russian defeat may seem like a hypothetical issue at this stage. But nations must think and prepare for new situations in advance to avoid nasty surprises. In the evolving situation in Ukraine, the Russian military is being forced to pull back in different cities and areas, giving rise to a strong possibility of a withdrawal or defeat for Russia.

A defeat will hit the Russian self-image and economy badly, and further marginalisation of Russia will do no good for India. Russia continues to be the biggest source of its military hardware.

Indian forces cannot easily shift away from Russian hardware at a short notice because it involves heavy expenditure and a revamp in the workforce training process. Substituting Russian arms and spares will not be easy because European alternative options are far more expensive and not designed for the Indian situation. More so because we are unlikely to buy Chinese arms ever.

The Chinese situation is well known too. Anaysts like Nigel Gould-Davies of the International Institute for Strategic Studies insist there are "abundant reasons"

AFP

> India and China want to end the Ukraine war before Russia suffers an ignominious defeat. It may have more severe implications for both countries than the harm done by the war for China to be very unhappy in the Ukrainian context. A defeat and weakening of Russia will hit China's diplomatic status because some of it hinges on its cooperation with Moscow. The two countries are the closest allies among major powers. They coordinate and vote simultaneously in international forums. They hold two of the five veto powers at the United Nations Security Council.

Viewed from Beijing, Russia looks more like an embarrassment than an asset. The worst thing to happen since Russian forces invaded Ukraine on February 24 was strengthening of the western alliance and a drive among European nations to become NATO members. This is the opposite of what the state-run media has been proclaiming: the decline of western power.

Despite some misgivings, the SCO summit went about its business with the notable decision to welcome Iran as its newest member. It also set the process of granting Egypt, Saudi Arabia, and Qatar the status of SCO dialogue partners. This is a crucial stage before inducting them as new members. The summit also agreed to admit Bahrain, the Maldives, the United Arab Emirates, Kuwait, and Myanmar as new dialogue partners.

At present, it has six Muslim countries as members. They include Pakistan and four Central Asian countries—Kazakhstan, Uzbekistan, Kyrgyzstan, and Tajikistan—besides new entrant Iran. Given the lost list of Muslim countries on the verge of joining the SCO, the organisation will provide a sufficient opportunity for Muslim voices.

This is the handiwork of China which is trying to use the SCO as a counterforce to the western alliance.

The state-run Global Times in Beijing quoted Mehmood Ul Hassan Khan, director of the Islamabad-based Centre of South Asia and International Studies, as saying that the SCO's principle of non-alliance, non-confrontation, and not targeting any third party has won the hearts of many countries. In his view, the SCO's modern visions on politics, security, economy and human society are pretty attractive to countries in the region, and beyond.

There are signs that India decided to cold-shoulder the Chinese president. Xi Jinping would have liked a meeting with Modi because that would have contributed to his efforts to gain global importance and avoid the possibility of western isolation, which his friend and ally, Putin, is suffering from. One of China's nightmares is further isolation of the country and its business at a time when its economy is weakening.

But India decided to signal that it is not happy about Chinese aggression on the border even during the disengagement process now taking place at Ladakh. India is not entirely happy about it and does not trust Chinese troops to stay back in their barracks for long.

The SCO summit was not a diplomatic gain for either Modi, Xi, or Putin. Instead, the member nations were keen to look out for their self-interests instead of banding together as one group under the SCO banner.

RaGa ray of hope?

Apropos of C P Surendran's column, The Congress Rahul walks away from (Sept 20), I'd forgotten RG's remarks upon viewing Prabhakaran's body on television. The country is enveloped in danger. At 71, I've lost hope and fear for the generations to come. Already we have a young population who don't know what they don't know.

No trust in Rahul

Apropos of The Congress Rahul walks away from (Sept 20). Rahul cannot be relied upon either by his party members or followers. His Rafale allegations, 'Chowkidar Chor Hai' slogan and Chinese connections among many other things, point to Rahul as a prince born with a silver spoon. How can we put our faith in such a person and entrust him with such a huge responsibility?

Madras HC on divorce

I agree with Justice Ramaswamy who told a lawyer couple in a divorce proceeding that a child is a "connecting link between the couple". It is important that parents shed their ego, and then, like the judge said, they will turn the "house into a beautiful home". This must be understood by thousands of petitioners waiting to get divorced.

Arif a one-man army

The feud between Kerala Governor Arif Mohammad Khan and the state government is nasty. The former is alone on one side and is faced by the CM and his entire retinue—which to me—seems a bit unfair. In a war, fair play should be the guiding principle. Both sides must conduct themselves with basic decency.

Arif drones on in vain

Kerala Governor Arif Mohammad Khan was so full of himself at the nearly two-hour press conference held at the Raj Bhavan. He was using the conference to take potshots at the ruling LDF and their "ideology of violence". He is no more than the BJP's stooge and mocks the spirit of cooperative federalism. It is not for him but the people of Kerala to decide about the conduct of their government. His words depict that he is unfit to be governor.

NSCN's shocking demand

The Framework Agreement signed by the Central government in 2015 must culminate peacefully. However, the "non-negotiable" demand of the National Socialist Council of Nagalim (NSCN-IM) with regards to having a Naga flag and constitution is shocking for the entire country.

Did Nehru invite RSS to R-Day? No proof, many claims

PREETHA NAIR @New Delhi

AS the war of words between Kerala Governor Arif Mohammad Khan and Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan escalates, the former's meeting with RSS chief Mohan Bhagwat has sparked another round of row. While the Governor defended the meeting by flaunting his long association with RSS, ruling CPI(M) and Congress termed it as 'improper and overstepping Governor's constitutional authority.

The row has also put the spotlight once again on the veracity of RSS' claims that it participated in the 1963 Republic Day Parade. To substantiate his argument, Khan said that then PM Jawaharlal Nehru invited RSS to participate in the parade, as he was impressed by the work of its volunteers during the Indo-China war in 1962. However, an RTI filed by India Today magazine in 2018, offers no credence to the claims of the Sangh. Responding to the RTI, Defence Ministry said, "It is informed that records relating to the composition of the Republic Day parade 1963 are not available."

Countering the RTI report, senior RSS leader J Nandakumar told this newspaper that RSS participation in the parade was a well-documented one and it was published by the newspaper Hindustan at that time. The photographs of the volunteers were also published, he added.

"RTI gives information based on available documents in archives. Even Netaji Subhash Chandra Bose's documents are not available. This proof also might have been destroyed, though I am not sure about it. The ruling dispensation, during that time, might have chosen not to preserve some inconvenient truths," said Nandakumar, adding that the meeting between the Governor and Bhagwat has been blown out of proportion. "Bhagwat is the head of the largest voluntary organisation. If an RSS member can become the PM of the country, can't the Guv visit him?" he asked. Echoing the view, RSS publicity chief Sunil Ambekar told this daily that it's an unwarranted controversy and the governor is free to meet anyone. "It's a democracy and he can meet anyone," he said. Earlier too, controversy cropped up when former President Pranab Mukherjee accepted the Sangh's invitation to visit RSS headquarters.

Reacting to the charges, Senior Congress leader Veerappa Moily said that RSS is instrumental in polarising the country on communal lines and no claims can give them credibility.

"Nehru hasn't mentioned such a thing in his autobiography," said Moily.

RSS CHIEF MEETS EMINENT MUSLIMS

NEW DELHI: RSS chief Mohan Bhagwat has recently met with a group of eminent Muslims to discuss ways to defuse growing hostility between the two communities. The meeting took place at its headquarters in the national capital last month. Former AMU V-C Lieutenant General (Rtd) Zameer Uddin Shah, former L-G of Delhi Najeeb Jung, Former CEC SY Quraishi, Rashtriya Lok Dal national vice-president Shahid Siddiqui and industrialist Saeed Sherwani were among those who met Bhagwat. According to sources, the meeting discussed many ways to bring two communities close.

Competition with adversaries is being played out on a daily basis and a war cannot be ruled out, says R Hari Kumar

MAYANK SINGH @New Delhi

WHILE China is expanding its presence around India and Pakistan in the West has continued with the modernisation of its Navy, said Admiral R Hari Kumar here on Tuesday. Elaborating on "Security Challenges" that India Faces, Chief of Naval Staff (CNS) pointed out that while competition is being played out on a daily basis — at times testing limits but without escalating into armed action — a war however can never be ruled out.

In this regard, he said, "China remains a formidable challenge and has increased its presence, not only along our land borders, but also in the maritime domain by leveraging anti-piracy operations to normalise its naval presence in the Indian Ocean Region."

To the West, Pakistan — despite economic constraints — has continued its military modernisation, especially its Navy, which is on track to becoming a 50-platform force, added CNS.

"While competition is being played out on a daily basis — at times testing limits — but without escalating into armed action, a war with potential adversaries can never be ruled out," Admiral Kumar said. "To the West, Pakistan — despite economic constraints — has continued its military modernisation, especially its Navy, which is on track to becoming a 50-platform force."

He specified that China began its Indian Ocean maritime deployment in 2008 using anti-piracy operations "as the reason" and since then there has been continuous presence in the region. "At any point we have anything between 5-8 Chinese Navy units, be it warships or research vessels and a host of Chinese fishing vessels operating in the IOR. We keep a watch on them and see how they are undertaking their activities in the IOR," he said.

While "China now has a base in Djibouti, and have been involved in development of various ports in the IOR, Sri Lanka, Myanmar, Pakistan and so many other countries, the Navy Chief said. "India is also building its capability but it is "not based on a nation, it is based upon our requirements to protect, preserve and promote our national interests," he added.

China remains a formidable challenge and has increased its presence, not only along our land borders, but also in the maritime domain by leveraging anti-piracy operations to normalise its naval presence in the Indian Ocean Region

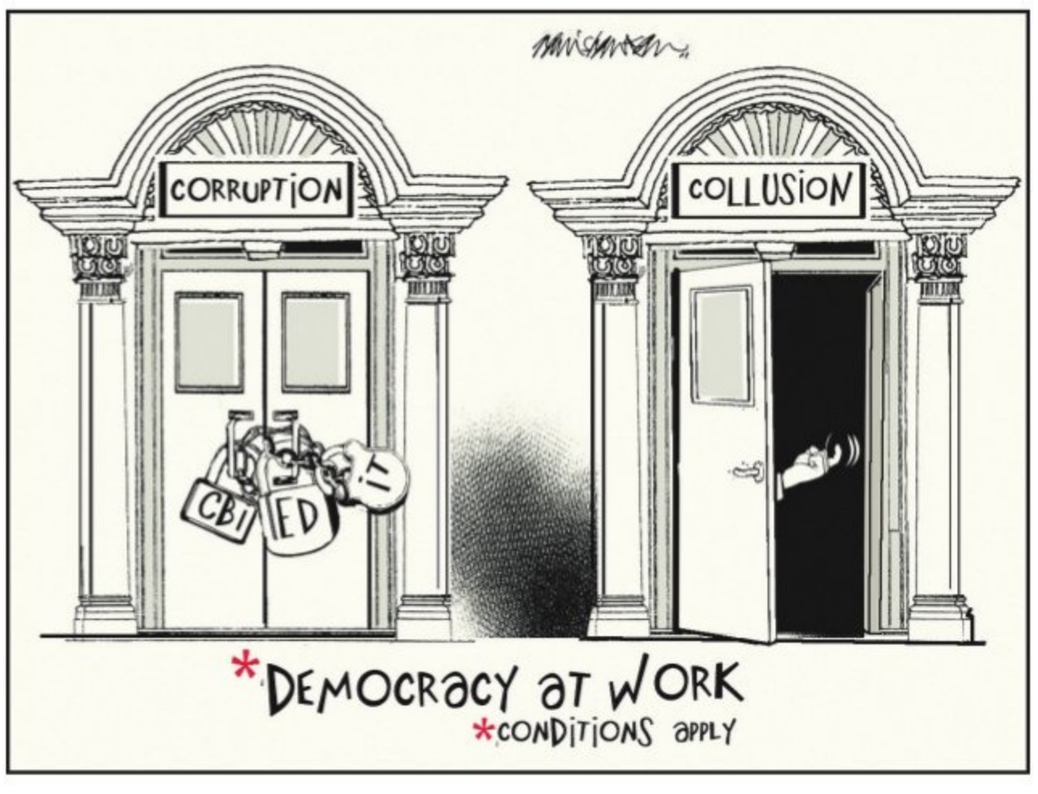
ADMIRAL R HARI KUMAR, Navy Chief

With the structuring of our force and developing the capability, "these get factored and enable us to keep the Indian Ocean under surveillance. We have aircraft sorties, ships deployed almost 24X7 to keep an eye on the IOR", Admiral Kumar said.

Admiral Kumar was delivering the keynote address for the plenary session on India's Naval Revolution: Becoming an Ocean Power at the 49th National Management Convention, All India Management Association. He also talked about the reliability of the weapons of Russian origin and its assistance in the technological realm. Talking about the Russian equipment, he said they are reliable and while there have been teething issues with some of the systems; they have been getting good support from Russia.

Russia supported us with some technologies which we are not able to get from any other sources, Admiral Kumar said, "In that sense, we have really been receiving good support from Russia over the years."

While the conventional military challenges persist, CNS pointed towards terrorism which "remains a major security threat, as it continues to evolve in shape, scale and size." Staying one step ahead of such an invisible enemy, who will constantly innovate tactics, enabled by niche technologies, is a challenge that persists.



Foiled Capt's 'poaching' attempt, says Congress

EXPRESS NEW SERVICE @Chandigarh

WHEN former Congress CM Capt Amarinder Singh joined the BJP on Monday, he held a long list of several others who were to follow suit.

However, it appears the state Congress did some last-minute firefighting and stopped about a dozen leaders, including former ministers and MLAs, from switching sides.

The crisis in the state Congress is far from over as resentment persists in its influential section against the top leadership.

Sources said many would-be party changers were on their way to Delhi while a few had already reached the national capital. They reportedly returned after last minute persuasion by senior leaders, including leader of the opposition Partap Singh Bajwa and former Union minister Ambika Soni.

Some of the fence-sitters reportedly included former Punjab speaker KPS Rana and OP Soni. All these leaders were given an assurance that the issues they have raised would be sorted out within the party and by the high command.

Sources said many Congress leaders attacked Harish Choudhary, the party in-charge of the state unit, for converting the party into a "private company" where nobody listens to party leaders and workers.

10% EWS quota for people from forward castes: Centre

ENS @New Delhi

SUPPORTING the 103rd Constitutional Amendment Act which granted 10% reservation to economically weaker for admission to central government and private educational institutions and recruitment in central government jobs, the Centre on Tuesday told the Supreme Court that EWS reservation was for the group of people consisting people from forward castes, non-Backward Classes, and general category.

AG KK Venugopal before a 5 judge bench comprising CJI UU Lalit, Justices Dinesh Maheshwari, SR Bhat, Bela Trivedi & JB Pardiwala also contended that SC/ST/OBC groups were the primary beneficiaries of most reservations and affirmative action policies and thus there was no basis for discrimination. "This reservation is a new evolution, totally independent of reservations for STs, SCs and OBCs. It doesn't erode their rights," Venugopal also said.

Objecting to the locus of the petitioners challenging the amendment, Venugopal said there were no grounds for discrimination unless these groups could prove that the amendment affected them directly.

"In the normal course, unless they show this amendment has affected them directly, it will not be accepted... Among the general category there is a section which is grossly poor, that is the EWS, why is this 50% limit being fixed?," AG said.

Govt's stand sought on Bhopal tragedy relief

The SC on Tuesday deferred curative petition filed by Manmohan Singh's government in 2010 against the Dow Chemical Company (TDCC), Union Carbide Corporation for a direction of additional compensation of 1.2 billion dollars (then `7,413 crore) for the victims of Bhopal gas disaster for October 11 and the court has sought Modi government's stand. 'No assertion hijab is time-honoured practice'

"THERE is no assertion by the petitioners that wearing of hijab is a practice from time immemorial," Mehta said.

Referring to the recent protests against hijab in Iran, Mehta argued that India is a secular nation, but even in countries founded on the basis of Islam, there were protests against the use of hijab. "They asserted right before a court of law that mere mention in the Quran will not by itself make it an essential religious practice. Uniform is for uniformity and equality amongst all students. When you want to cross that, your test should be at a higher threshold," he said. The state can regulate secular activities related to religion but not religion itself, the Advocate General for the State argued.

On the girl student, Munisha Bushra Abedi, challenging the HC order, senior advocate Dushyant Dave submitted that a series of acts has been committed to target Muslims in the state for the last two years. Questioning the basis of the Government Order which restrains students from wearing hijab (customary Islamic headscarf) to educational institutions, Dave said for Muslims, headgear cannot be prohibited. He also added that uniform was an unnecessary burden on the majority section of the society and many people don't have the money to buy uniforms.

"Uniform is a leveller to avoid disparity. Your richness or poverty can't be made out from the uniform," Justice Gupta remarked.

"Nobody's peace is violated and there's no danger to tranquility. In this case, dignity is very important. Hijab adds to the dignity of the woman. When a Hindu woman covers her head with a saree, she feels dignified," Dave reasoned.

MAYANK SINGH @New Delhi

DEFENCE Minister Rajnath Singh and Egyptian Defence Minister General Mohamed Zaki signed a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) in Cairo, Egypt, on Monday on cooperation in the field of defence. Singh is on a two-day official visit to Egypt. Egypt is one of the six countries showing interest in indigenous Light Combat Aircraft Tejas.

Terming it a milestone event of the visit, the Ministry of Defence (MoD) in a statement said the MoU "will pave the way for enhancing defence cooperation across all sectors of mutual interest."

Defence Minister Rajnath Singh held bilateral talks with the Egyptian Defence Minister on Monday.

During the meeting, both sides discussed steps to strengthen defence ties and reached a consensus to enhance conduct of joint exercises and exchange of personnel for training, especially in the field of counter-insurgency.

The two ministers also agreed to identify proposals for expanding cooperation between the defence industries of India and Egypt in a time-bound manner. They also exchanged views on regional security and acknowledged the contribution of India and Egypt to peace and stability in the world. Both sides expressed happiness at the intensified defence engagement and exchanges over the last year, despite the COVID-19 pandemic.

Rajnath Singh in an official tweet described the meeting as excellent. "We had wide-ranging discussions on several initiatives to further expand bilateral Defence engagements. Signing of the MoU on Defence Cooperation adds new impetus and synergy to our relations," Singh added.

Four southern universities, including the Indian Institute of Science, Bangalore, are among the 48 Indian universities that are either engaged or actively pursuing collaborations with foreign higher education institutions (HEIs) under the government's twinning scheme.

Periyar University, Salem, Manipal Academy of Higher Education, Karnataka and Pondicherry University are the others from the south seeking collaborations under the scheme, said University Grants Commission (UGC) chairman Professor M. Jagadesh Kumar.

Kumar told this newspaper that the scheme has received a positive response ever since the regulations were released in May this year, which allows Indian and foreign higher education institutions to offer twinning and joint degree (where some course is completed abroad) and dual degree (where both colleges award degree) programmes. "Response to the regulations has been overwhelming. So far, 48 Indian universities have shared that they have either engaged in academic collaboration with foreign higher education institutions (HEIs) or in the advanced stage of finalising the collaboration agreements," Kumar said.

The Tata Institute of Social Sciences formally launched the 2022-2023 academic session with two new international dual degree programmes, the first of its kind, on September 12, 2022.

About 26 central universities figure in the list of eligible Indian HEIs, the UGC chairman said.

Cutting across partylines, reservation takes the centre stage in state politics as leaders rush to cement their place among masses

Shinde forms panel to resolve Maratha quota

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @Mumbai

MAHARASHTRA Chief Minister Eknath Shinde on Monday reconstituted a sub-committee for the reservation of the Maratha community in education and government jobs. The panel is headed by Higher and Technical Education Minister Chandrakant Patil. The committee will continue to follow up on the legal and technical aspects to ensure that the community gets a quota.

Ministers Radhakrishna Vikhe Patil, Girish Mahajan, Dada Bhuse, Shambhuraj Desai and Uday Samant are the other members of the committee.

The sub-committee was previously headed by former minister Ashok Chavan under the Maha Vikas Aghadi government.

In May 2021, the Supreme Court had struck down the Maharashtra law, terming it "unconstitutional." The apex court said that there were no exceptional circumstances to breach the 50 per cent reservation cap set by the 1992 Mandal verdict.

Shinde had earlier said that his government is committed to the cause of reservations for the Marathas and Dhangars in Maharashtra.

The state government has decided to file a review petition in the Supreme Court over the ruling of the top court which quashed reservation in jobs and education for the Marathas.

Sambhaji Brigade president Pravin Gaikwad said that the Maharashtra government should give the reservation to Marathas in the Other Backward Classes category. He said that it will be a futile exercise if the government tries other ways. "We have been trying to convince the government that the Maratha and Kunbi communities are the same. So, just like the Kunbis, the Marathas should also be included in the OBC reservations," Gaikwad said.

'Nagaland reservation review after census'

Nagaland Chief Minister Neiphiu Rio on Tuesday said that the state cabinet has decided to review the job reservation policy after the completion of the census. Rio made the statement in the assembly while replying to NDPP MLA Yitachu's request to provide reservation in technical posts to backward tribes. Rio said the concern has been noted and it will be examined in due course of time. He informed the House that a decision was taken by the state cabinet to review the reservation policy as some areas and tribes need to be added, while some have to be removed, besides decreasing or increasing the quota. PTI

J'khand to roll out 75% quota in pvt jobs for locals

MUKESH RANJAN @ Ranchi

DAYS after the Jharkhand cabinet led by Hemant Soren approved proposals related to the domicile policy and a 27% reservation for OBCs, the CM has ordered a job quota scheme for locals in the private sector from next month.

In a series of review meetings held on Monday with various departments, Soren directed officials to implement the scheme providing for 75% reservation to the locals with a monthly salary of up to ₹40,000 in the private sector.

The state assembly had passed the Jharkhand State Employment of Local Candidates in Private Sector Bill, 2021 in September last year.

A select committee of the Assembly had earlier cleared the bill with some changes. The panel, chaired by Labour Minister Satyanand Bhokta, had added words "private sector" in the amended bill, changing its name from 'The Jharkhand State Employment of Local Candidates Bill, 2021' to 'The Jharkhand State Employment of Local Candidates in Private Sector Bill, 2021'.

The amended legislation increased the salary limit to ₹40,000 from the earlier ₹30,000.

According to a communiqué from the Chief Minister's office, Soren has directed officials to implement the Act passed earlier by the Assembly from next month.

"Stressing that his government was committed to protecting the rights of the tribal and local people, the Chief Minister has directed officials to implement the job reservation scheme for locals by next month," said a source in the state government.

The statement from the CMO said that after making progress in defining domicile policy, the CM wanted to move ahead with the employment plan.

The Act ensures that "during the process of employment of local candidates, attention is given to the representation of the displaced due to the establishment of the institution concerned, local candidates of a district and all classes of the society."

It also provides for formation of a committee headed by a designated officer that will include the local MLA, Deputy Development Commissioner (DDC) and the Circle Officer (CO) to supervise the employment procedure and issue directions to the employer concerned as it may deem fit.

The proposal giving priority to the local youths in private jobs was a part of the manifesto of JMM in the 2019 Assembly elections. The decision came in view of a large number of migrant youths returning to their homes during the Covid lockdown in 2020.

Govt silences critics with 'clean' recruitment

The Himanta Biswa Sarma government sought to silence critics after appointing 5,200 candidates in the police department. Many of them are from poor families and they thanked the government for the clean appointment process. "Did people ever celebrate Bihu after the declaration of results of an exam for recruitment into government service? People are happy as we managed to conduct the exam cleanly and in a transparent manner," Health Minister Keshab Mahanta said. Minister Pijush Hazarika also shared the photos of some successful candidates. The state government is viewing the appointments as an achievement.

No definite answer to high power bills

Though there has been no hike in power tariff, consumers got high bills for August. What confused them more were the statements made by the leaders and Assam Power Distribution Company Ltd (APDCL). The APDCL said the high bills were caused by an increase in domestic consumption during summer. But CM Himanta Biswa Sarma said it was due to faulty readings in some newly-installed smart meters. He said the APDCL has been instructed to urgently fix the problem. One of Sarma's ministerial colleagues said it is obvious that power tariffs will rise when government employees get a pay hike of `200-300 every month.

Flight fare cheaper than bus ticket

Flight fare on the Guwahati-Tezu-Imphal-Tezu-Guwahati route is set to get cheaper than bus fare, thanks to FlyBig. The airline will add this sector under the central government's ambitious UDAN scheme on September 26 all days except Mondays. Manipur capital Imphal will be directly connected to Tezu in Arunachal Pradesh. The airline said the fares will start from Rs 799. The Imphal-Guwahati bus fare is at least Rs 1,000. "We are supporting the vision of Prime Minister Narendra Modi of giving a major economic boost to hinterland regions of the nation. In the coming days, we will connect Imphal with major cities in east and north east with direct connections," FlyBig CMD Sanjay Mandavia said.

'Toxic gas' kills 3 in Assam coal mine, 8 held

ENS @Guwahati

THREE labourers died in a coal mine in Tinsukia district of Assam. The police said the incident occurred outside the Ledo Tikok coalfield on Sunday night. The police picked up eight people, including fellow labourers, in connection with the incident. The mine owner is absconding.

Tinsukia SP Debojit Deori told TNIE that it is not clear if the persons died by inhaling a toxic gas, as claimed by the fellow labourers, or due to other reasons. "On learning about the incident on Monday night, we rushed a team to the site and recovered the bodies. The bodies had been buried and had to be exhumed before being sent for post-mortem," Deori said.

"We don't know if the persons were alive or dead when they were buried. There could be a criminal angle too. So unless we receive the post-mortem report, we cannot say anything with certainty," Deori added. He said one David, who is the owner of the illegal coal mine, had brought 11 Muslim labourers from lower Assam's Bongaigaon and Goalpara districts to extract coal by following the method of rat-hole mining.

"David used to make them extract coal in a clandestine manner at night. He is the prime accused and we have registered a case against him. He is absconding but we will catch him soon," the SP said.

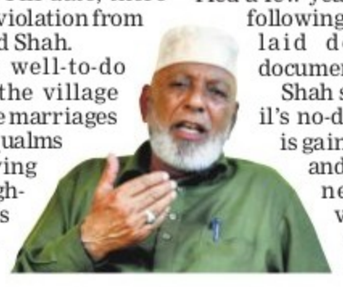
Dowry, lavish weddings taboo in this J&K village

FAYAZ WANI @Baba Wayil (Ganderbal)

EVEN as distressing news reports about dowry-related violence keep coming from various parts of India, the residents of Baba Wayil, a small village in Jammu and Kashmir's Ganderbal district, are not concerned. For, the villagers are still following the blanket ban on dowry and lavish weddings imposed about 40 years ago.

Explaining the no-dowry concept, Haji Ghulam Nabi Shah, 70, told this newspaper that the villagers decided to impose a blanket ban on dowry back in the 1980s in the larger interest of the community. A 'no dowry document' was also prepared, duly signed by the Imam, village elders and some key persons. "The document has been placed on the wall of the local mosque. Till date, there has been no violation from anyone," said Shah.

Even the well-to-do families in the village prefer simple marriages and have no qualms about marrying off their daughters and sons without taking or giving dowry.



The 16-point document stresses that the groom's family can't demand dowry from the bride's side. Instead, the groom's family has to gift ₹53,000 to the bride including ₹20,000 as bride price (Mehr) and ₹33,000 towards the trousseau. The groom's family also has to bring earrings for the bride, who does not wear any golden jewellery for the wedding but only artificial jewellery.

The document warns any violation will evoke legal proceedings and social boycott of the family from the villagers.

"This document does not differentiate between the rich and the poor. In fact, it protects the interests of the poor as they can marry off their daughters without having to take loans," said Parvez Ahmad Shah, who got married a few years ago strictly following the principles laid down in the document.

Shah said Baba Wayil's no-dowry practice is gaining popularity and it has inspired neighbouring villages, which now want to replicate it.

Cities cannot be developed with election-centric approach: Modi

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @ Ahmedabad

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi on Tuesday said that for urban development, the country trusts only the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP). It is a huge responsibility and matter of pride that local citizens trusted BJP for the development in their areas. He was addressing the council of mayors and deputy mayors of BJP in Gandhinagar, Gujarat via video conferencing.

The PM directed the BJP mayors to follow the party's motto and asserted that the country trusts the BJP. This conference has a significant role in preparing a roadmap of India's urban development for the next 25 years during 'Azadi ka Amrit Mahotsav'.

"It's the responsibility of all mayors to work on the grassroots level," said Modi.

The PM also warned mayors against collapsing urban infrastructure, saying, "It is necessary to have a transparent audit of buildings in the city. Old buildings collapsing and building fires are an issue of concern. One should follow rules to avoid a tragedy," he said.

"Elected representatives should not act only with the election in mind. Cities cannot be developed through election-oriented ideas. We need to pay special attention in planning cities as important centres of economic activities. If we work honestly for the betterment of the people, they do respond back," he said.

HC orders demolition of Rane's Juhu house

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Mumbai

THE Bombay High Court on Tuesday ordered the Brihanmumbai Municipal Corporation (BMC) to demolish illegal portions of Union minister Narayan Rane's Juhu bungalow within two weeks.

A bench of justices RD Dhanuka and Kamal Khata also imposed a cost of ₹10 lakh on Rane's family-owned firm, Kaalkaa Real Estates Pvt Ltd, which is to be deposited with the Maharashtra State Legal Services Authority. Rane is Minister of Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises.

The court dismissed a petition seeking directions to the civic body to consider a second regularisation application. "If the application of the petitioners for retention or regularisation is allowed, and the application accepted irrespective of the extent of violation of provisions of law, then any such order passed by this court would amount to encouraging the wholesale unauthorised construction carried out in flagrant violation of statutes," it said.

Advocate Shardul Singh for the petitioner sought a six-week stay to enable the petitioner to approach the Supreme Court. However, the bench refused.

The BMC had issued a notice to Kaalkaa Real Estates in March, directing it to remove the alleged unauthorised work within 15 days failing which the BMC would demolish those portions and recover the cost.

Statue to honour Khasi leader, subcontinent's first woman minister

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @ Guwahati

SIX decades after her death, Meghalaya is planning to install a statue to honour Mavis Dunn Lyngdoh, who became the Indian subcontinent's first woman minister 83 years ago. As Meghalaya is celebrating the golden jubilee of statehood, Assembly Speaker Metbah Lyngdoh has written to Chief Minister Conrad K Sangma proposing to honour Mavis by erecting her life-sized statue.

"Appreciating the state government's effort to celebrate the golden jubilee in a grand and befitting manner, it will also be proper for us to honour the late Mavis Dunn Lyngdoh. I would like to request the government to consider putting one full-size statue of her on the premises of the State Central Library (in Shillong) and honour her for her achievement and service to our people," Lyngdoh's letter to Sangma reads.

Mavis was appointed a Cabinet minister in Assam in 1939, eight years before Sarojini Naidu was appointed as the governor of the United Provinces in 1947, becoming the first woman to hold the office of governor in the Dominion of India. At the invitation of Sir Mohammed Syed Saadulla, Mavis, then aged 33 years, had joined his government in 1939. Meghalaya, which attained statehood in 1972, was then a part of Assam.

Born on June 4, 1906 to H Dunn and Ka Helibon Lyngdoh, Mavis studied at the Welsh Mission Girls' School, Shillong; the Diocesan College and the Bethune College, Kolkata, where she obtained her BT degree. She was also the first Khasi woman to qualify to practise law from the University Law College, Guwahati.

Her political career began at the age of 31 in 1937 when she was elected as a member of the Assam Assembly as an independent candidate. As the health minister, she created the posts of nurses in government-run hospitals, and women trained in public as well as private institutions were appointed. There were no state training schools for nurses in the Northeast back then.

Mavis, who never married, retired from politics in 1946 but devoted her life to social service. She died in 1962.

CBI report on K'taka IAS officer's death nixed

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

THE second closure report of the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) in the mysterious death of Karnataka cadre IAS officer Anurag Tiwari in 2021 was rejected by a special judicial magistrate on Monday. The court posted the matter for next hearing on Oct 14.

The 2007-batch IAS officer was found dead on May 17, 2017 by the roadside in front of the government guest house in which he was staying in Lucknow. Ruling out any foul play, the CBI closure report, filed in January 2021, had claimed that Tiwari's death was accidental, caused by asphyxia as a result of positional smothering.

The court stated: "Asphyxia due to smothering is caused by blocking air entry into the lungs by simultaneous closure of nose and mouth. The viscera report of the deceased shows that there was no alcohol which could lead to intoxication and the nicotine content was 319ng/L, which is not enough to cause a person to lose balance on his body."

Citing the post-mortem report, the court said that the stomach content of the deceased showed 520 ml of undigested food. "However, a person suffering from acute diarrhoea consuming more than 520 ml of food and thereafter going for a walk at 4 am and losing balance and lying in a position that causes smothering and ultimately his death seems unlikely," the court stated.

Tiwari hailed from Bahraich in UP. He was posted as the civil and supplies commissioner in Karnataka and was on a visit to Lucknow.

The CBI submitted its first closure report on Feb 19, 2019, but the court rejected it, asking the agency to re-investigate. The second report was filed on Jan 28, 2021. The court rejected it again on Monday.

Referendum ploy to annex territory

Voting announced in four Russian-held regions as Ukraine attempts to wrest seized land

KYIV

MOSCOW-HELD regions of Ukraine will vote in the coming days on annexation by Russia, separatist officials said Tuesday, as Kyiv's troops wrest back territory captured by Moscow's forces. Separatist authorities in the eastern Donetsk and Lugansk regions, as well as in the southern Kherson and Zaporizhzhia regions, said they would hold the vote over five days beginning Friday this week and ending on Tuesday.

The regions are on the frontlines of a sweeping Ukrainian counter-offensive that has seen Kyiv's forces retake hundreds of towns and villages that had been controlled by Russia for months. Their integration into Russia would represent a major escalation of the conflict as Moscow could try to say it was defending its own territory from Ukrainian forces.

Kyiv said the "sham" votes were meaningless and vowed to "eliminate" threats posed by Russia, saying its forces would keep retaking territory regardless of what Moscow or its proxies announced.

The US, too, denounced the referendums, adding it would not recognise its results. "These referenda are an affront to the principles of sovereignty and territorial integrity that underpin the international system," said White House National Security Advisor Jake Sullivan. "If this does transpire, the US will never recognize Russia's claims to any purportedly annexed parts of Ukraine," he said.

Denis Miroshnichenko, a separatist leader in the Lugansk, said pro-Moscow lawmakers had voted to hold the vote from September 23 to 27.

Shortly afterwards, a news portal associated with separatist authorities in Donetsk said the region would hold a ballot over the same dates.

Large parts of the industrial Donbas area — made up of Donetsk and Lugansk — have been controlled by Moscow-backed separatists since 2014, after nationwide demonstrations ousted a Kremlin-friendly Ukrainian president.

Russia at the time annexed the Crimean peninsula on the Black Sea from Ukraine with a vote that was criticised by Kyiv and the West, which imposed sanctions in response.

Ahead of the announcement by separatist and pro-Moscow leaders, Russia's lower house of parliament drafted new legislation tightening prison time for soldiers who surrender, desert or loot. Authorities in the Kherson region of Ukraine also announced on Tuesday they would hold a vote over the same dates on annexation from Russia. "I am sure that the incorporation of the Kherson region into the Russian Federation will secure our territory and restore historical justice," said the Moscow-installed head of that region, Vladimir Saldo.

"Encroachment into Russian territory is a crime and if it is committed, that allows you to use all possible force in self-defence," Dmitry Medvedev, now the deputy chairman of Russia's security council, said on social media. AFP

Putin raps US bid for global domination

MOSCOW

RUSSIAN President Vladimir Putin on Tuesday blasted what he described as US efforts to preserve its global domination and ordered officials to boost weapons production amid the fighting raging in Ukraine.

Speaking while receiving credentials from foreign ambassadors to Moscow, Putin said "the objective development toward a multipolar world faces resistance of those who try to preserve their hegemony in global affairs and control everything — Latin America, Europe, Asia and Africa." He added "the hegemon has succeeded in doing so for quite a long time, but it can't go on forever... regardless of the developments in Ukraine." AP

UNGA BEGINS. WILL IT JUST BE A TALK FEST?

DOES THE ANNUAL UN GENERAL ASSEMBLY MEETING HAVE THE ABILITY TO RESTORE PEACE? A LOOK

WILL EVERYONE COME TO NEW YORK THIS YEAR?

Most of them. In order to speak, they must show up in person. Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy alone has been allowed by the to submit a prerecorded speech. It is expected to be played on Wednesday

IS THE UN GENERAL ASSEMBLY MEETING MEANINGFUL?

Effective or not, the benefits of attendance are undeniable. From the dais, countries broadcast their agendas, grievances and calls to action to the entire world and a permanent record. It's also a chance for leaders to engage in meetings on the sidelines of the event

HOW IS THE ORDER OF SPEECHES DETERMINED?

Begins will Brazil. The US generally speaks second, but President Joe Biden's attendance of Queen Elizabeth II's funeral will push his speech to Wednesday this year. After that, various criteria are applied, like country preference and geographic balance. The weightage of the representative determines the pecking order

WHAT IS THE SPEECH DURATION?

Fifteen minutes, but speeches can be longer. The longest was 269 minutes by Cuba's Fidel Castro in 1960

CAN THERE BE FIREWORKS IN THE DEBATE?

No booing or interruptions or immediate rebuttals, but the right to reply to rebut criticism creates options for tough language. India and Pakistan's longstanding enmity practically guarantees they'll be using the right of reply. Zelensky last year had castigated the UN as a "retired superhero", ironically quoting Russian President Vladimir Putin

WHAT TO EXPECT THIS YEAR?

In addition to heavy hitters like Biden and Zelenskyy, expect addresses from new British Prime Minister Liz Truss, French President Emmanuel Macron, Iranian President Ebrahim Raisi, Egyptian President Abdel Fattah el-Sissi and new Kenyan President William Ruto, among many others. Russia is sending its foreign minister, Sergeev Lavrov

India continues to be supportive of Sri Lanka, says High Commission

COLOMBO

INDIA continues to be supportive of Sri Lanka in "all possible ways" for its early economic recovery and growth, the Indian High Commission here said on Tuesday after a media report that New Delhi does not plan to provide fresh financial support to the crisis-hit country on top of the nearly $4 billion it has extended this year.

"We would like to emphasise that India has extended unprecedented bilateral assistance amounting close to $4 billion this year for ameliorating the difficulties faced by the people of Sri Lanka. India has also advocated to other bilateral and multilateral partners supporting Sri Lanka expeditiously in its current economic difficulties," the Indian High Commission said.

Responding to a report that India would no longer extend economic support to Sri Lanka, the High Commission in a statement said, "We continue to be supportive of Sri Lanka in all possible ways, in particular by promoting long-term investments from India in key economic sectors in Sri Lanka for its early economic recovery and growth." "Our bilateral development cooperation projects in Sri Lanka, which cumulatively total about $ 3.5 billion, are ongoing. Sri Lankans also continue to avail of scholarships for higher education and skills training in premier Indian institutions. These aspects of our close and long-standing cooperation with Sri Lanka also contribute to the efforts for addressing Sri Lanka's current economic difficulties," it said. India has been the biggest provider of aid this year to its southern neighbour, which is fighting its worst economic crisis in more than seven decades and struggling to pay for imports.

The High Commission of India in another statement said that in response to a recent request from the Sri Lankan Government, it held the first round of discussions on September 16 on restructuring the country's bilateral official debt to India.

Sundar Pichai meets Indian ambassador, talks business

WASHINGTON

GOOGLE CEO Sunder Pichai has held discussions with the Indian envoy in the US, Taranjit Singh Sandhu, about the technology giant's activities in India, particularly its aggressive push towards digitisation, as he became the first top Indian-American tech business leader to visit the country's embassy here.

"Thank you" Ambassador Sandhu for the great conversation, Pichai said in a tweet after his visit to the Indian Embassy in downtown Washington DC late last week. This is for the first time that a top Indian-American tech CEO has visited the embassy here.

"Appreciated the chance to discuss Google's commitment to India and look forward to continuing our support for India's digital future," said Pichai, who in January this year was named among the 17 awardees to receive the Padma Bhushan.

"Technology that transforms; ideas that enable!" tweeted Sandhu. 'Delighted to receive' Google and Alphabet Pichai at the Embassy, he said. "Exchanged thoughts on expanding India-US commercial, knowledge & tech partnership with Google," the Indian envoy said.

Google under Pichai has made a massive investment in India and phenomenally expanded its footprint in a wide range of sectors including its training for the younger generation. It has announced an investment of about $10 billion under Google for India digitisation. It also has partnerships with Reliance's Jio as well as with Bharti Airtel.

During the meeting with the Indian Ambassador, Pichai was very appreciative of the initiatives that have been taken by India and underscored how Google is looking at India in a very positive framework.

The Ambassador highlighted the knowledge and education partnership.

PAK PM SHEHBAZ FACES TREASON CHARGES

LAHORE

PAKISTAN'S Punjab Assembly has passed a resolution with a majority vote against Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif, seeking his trial under treason charges for consulting his 'fugitive' elder brother Nawaz Sharif in London on the appointment of the new army chief.

Punjab Minister for Parliamentary Affairs Basharat Raja presented the resolution in the House seeking action against Shehbaz under Article 6 (treason) of the Constitution. Punjab is ruled by ousted prime minister Imran Khan's Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) party and its ally party PML(Q).

The resolution says the premier consulted a fugitive — Nawaz Sharif, a three-time prime minister of Pakistan — in London a couple of days ago on the appointment of the new army chief, which not only amounts to the prime minister's oath preventing him from sharing sensitive matters with unrelated persons but also an insult to the institution of the Army.

Shehbaz was in London to attend the state funeral of the late Queen Elizabeth II, who also met Nawaz Sharif during his stay in the city and discussed the appointment of the next Army chief with him.

Nawaz has been living in London since November 2019 after Lahore High Court granted him bail for eight weeks on medical grounds. Before leaving for London, Nawaz was serving time in a jail here. PTI

ASIA MATTERS

EU hopes for trade pact within two years

The European Union hopes to strike a free-trade agreement with Indonesia within two years despite disputes with Southeast Asia's largest economy over palm oil and nickel, the bloc's trade commissioner said on Tuesday. "We think it is feasible by mid-2024" to conclude a comprehensive economic partnership agreement, Valdis Dombrovskis said. "We see there is some renewed momentum and we hope to build on that."

The two sides opened bilateral negotiations on a trade deal in 2016 but progress has been stalled over EU restrictions on the use of palm oil-based biofuels and an Indonesian embargo on nickel exports. Dombrovskis said the disputes needed to be resolved through negotiation and the World Trade Organization. Indonesia and Malaysia have filed appeals at the WTO over the biofuels dispute

Mobile makers to get PLI funds in 10-15 days

Telecom secretary says applications are under process and govt will give due consideration to eligible applications

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

AFTER reports of government scrutiny of the claim of a mobile a manufacturer under the production-linked incentive (PLI) scheme, the telecom ministry has clarified it will release the fund in next 10-15 days

Telecom secretary K Rajaraman, in an interaction with TNIE said all the applications are under process and the government will give due consideration to all eligible applications. "We received the second batch of applications this August. So, the application is under process. But one thing is sure, whosoever is eligible, we will give due consideration," said Rajaraman.

Nearly 32 beneficiaries had been approved under the PLI scheme for large-scale electronics manufacturing, of which 10 (5 global and 5 domestic companies) were approved for mobile manufacturing. As per the reports, Dixon Technologies and Samsung are said to have submitted the paperwork for claiming incentives, while others including Apple contract manufacturers Hon Hai (Foxconn) and Wistron are in the process of doing so.

Recently, Dixon Technologies became the first domestic company to receive incentives under the PLI scheme for the large-scale electronics manufacturing sector. However, there were reports that a major mobile manufacturer's application stuck due to some discrepancies. On this matter, Rajaraman said if the company is eligible it is certainly going to be the part of this scheme. "For the quarter ending June 2022, the applicants under this PLI scheme had undertaken sales of ₹1,67,770 crore, including export of ₹65,240 crore. The PLI scheme has also generated 28,636 employment. Over the last 3 years, exports have grown by 139%," a recent Niti Aayog statement said. The scheme on large-scale electronic manufacturing, which includes manufacturing of mobile phones and specified electronic components, was approved in March 2020, with an outlay of ₹38,645 crore. The government believes the scheme will bring in additional production to the tune of ₹10,69,432 crore and generate employment for 7,00,000 people. They had set a different target for the global and domestic mobile makers to be eligible for the scheme.

In case of foreign companies, the manufacturer will have to make an investment of ₹250 crore and manufacture goods worth ₹4,000 crore over and above the previous year. Also, the device made by the manufacturers should have an invoice value of over ₹15,000. For the Indian players, the investment target is ₹50 crore and they are required to manufacture phones worth ₹500 crore in the first year.

Manufacturer's PLI application stuck

Recently, Dixon Technologies became the first domestic company to receive incentives under the government's Production-Linked Incentive (PLI) scheme for the large-scale electronics manufacturing sector. However, there were reports that a major mobile manufacturer's application stuck due to some discrepancies. The government believes the scheme is expected to bring in production to the tune of ₹10,69,432 crore and generate employment for 7 lakh people

ASIANOMICS

INFLATION HITS NEAR 8-YEAR HIGH

Japan's core consumer inflation quickened to 2.8% in August, hitting its fastest annual pace in nearly eight years and exceeding the central bank's 2% target for a fifth straight month as price pressure from raw materials and yen weakness broadened. The strength of August inflation reinforced growing suspicions among economists that price pressure will last longer than the Bank of Japan (BOJ) has been expecting, though many still expect no immediate change to its ultra-easy policy. The BOJ will on Thursday end a two-day policy meeting at which analysts expect it to consider the fragility of economic recovery in deciding to hold both short- and long-term interest rates near zero. The rise in the core CPI, which excludes volatile fresh food but includes fuel costs, was slightly bigger than a median market forecast for a 2.7% increase and followed a 2.4% gain in July. The increase, the fastest since October 2014, was due largely to higher utility bills, rising food and grocery goods prices, and the fading effect on the data from cuts to mobile phone charges implemented last year.

CHINA

MILLIONAIRES TO DOUBLE BY 2026, CREDIT SUISSE SAYS

The number of Chinese millionaires is expected to double by 2026, according to a report by Credit Suisse issued on Tuesday, despite Beijing's national drive to ease wealth inequality and a sharply slowing economy. Total household wealth in China reached $85.1 trillion in 2021, up 15.1% or $11.2 trillion from 2020. Beijing's 'common prosperity' push has in recent years sharply escalated in official rhetoric and a crackdown on excesses in industries including technology and private education has rattled investors. In 2021, China had 6.2 million millionaires, up by more than a million from 2020, while globally total number of millionaires increased by 5.2 million. That number in China is expected to double to 12.2 million in five years time, the report said. The bullish China wealth growth outlook comes even as the world's second-largest economy narrowly avoided contracting in the second quarter as widespread COVID-19 lockdowns and the slumping property sector hit consumer and business confidence.

PHILIPPINES

CENTRAL BANK TO GO FOR ANOTHER 50 BPS RATE HIKE

The Philippine central bank will likely opt for a half-point interest rate rise on Thursday to support a weakening currency and blunt its effect on imported inflation, a Reuters poll of economists showed. Down more than 11% for the year, the Philippines peso is one of Asia's worst-performing currencies. Its poor showing against the U.S. dollar, propped up by an aggressive Federal Reserve set to deliver another 75 basis point rise on Wednesday, has led to a record trade deficit and higher inflation. To shore up the currency and tame inflation the Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas (BSP) has already raised its policy rate by 175 basis points since May. Over 60% majority of economists polled, or 13 of 21, expected a 50 basis point rise to 4.25% at its Sept. 22 meeting, compared with half of economists forecasting 4.00% in the previous poll. If realized, that would push the borrowing rate to the highest since August 2019. Six now expected a quarter point rise to 4.00%, one predicted a jumbo 75 bps to 4.50%, and a lone voice in the Sept. 13-19 poll expected no move from the BSP.

Byju's financial results a blockbuster, says co-founder

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ Bengaluru

BYJU'S co-founder Divya Gokulnath has called the edtech company's financial results as the second blockuster release of this year after Brahmastra.

After nearly 18 months' delay, Byju's reported consolidated loss of ₹4,589 crore in FY21. She hit out at the media in a LinkedIn post, saying just like movie reviews, 'sensationalism' results in more clicks than truth.

She said Byju's has grown over 4 times in 18 months post FY21, and its widening losses in FY21 have been cut to half in FY22. She picked up five headlines of different media organisations and issued clarification.

She said instead of the headline 'Byju's lost ₹12.5 cr every day' it should have been 'Byju's reported ₹4,500 crore loss in FY21 due to accounting change' and that they made ₹27 crore in revenue per day in FY22.

"Let's judge Brahmastra and Byju's after seeing the entire picture," she said.

While it was reported that there were five red flags from Byju's auditor's notes, Gokulnath posted, "The number of red flags is zero. And that is also the marks I would give to this publication for their headlines."

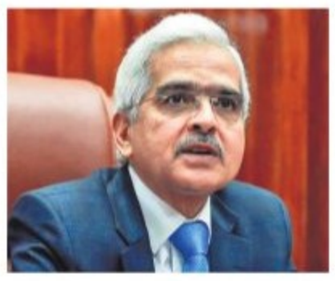
Her post clearly shows all is not well with the edtech unicorn. Operated by Think & Learn, the company's loss widened nearly 20 times in FY21 from ₹232 crore in FY20.

According to Crunchbase, the edtech company has 55 investors including Byju Raveendran and Vitruvian Partners. It has raised $5.5 billion so far.

The edtech company backed by Tiger Global has been acquiring many companies- Toppr, Epic!, Aakash, WhiteHat Jr, 2U, among others- over the past few months.

RBI red flags loan apps' unethical recovery practices

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ Bengaluru



THE Reserve Bank of India on Tuesday raised concerns over the growing unethical loan recovery practices, usurious interest rates and data privacy issues. It also flagged certain material concerns regarding the mushrooming of digital lending apps.

RBI Governor Shaktikanta Das said the need of the hour is to ensure safety following a process of whitelisting and due diligence by the regulated entities. "The RBI, in association with other relevant agencies, is taking steps to address this issue and take further steps as may be necessary," he said.

Speaking at the Global Fintech Festival held in Mumbai, the RBI governor said, "While innovations are very much welcome, they must be responsible and should enhance the efficiency and resiliency of the financial system while benefiting the consumers."

The level of due diligence and oversight exercised by the regulated entities on their outsourced activities needs to be strengthened further. This would help in proactive mitigation of risks at the incipient stage itself, he added.

The RBI has come up with digital lending guidelines that mandate digital lending platforms to disclose names of the banks/NBFCs upfront on whose behalf they were providing credit. He also said the pandemic accelerated the push towards digitalisation, especially in rural areas. The period from March 2020 to August 2022 has seen a massive growth of 427% in UPI transactions, which reached a new high of 657 crore transactions in August 2022 alone. "The number of UPI QR code enabled payment acceptance points increased by about 9 crore (86% YoY) to reach 20 crore as at end of July 2022, reflecting the growing acceptance and preference for contactless payments," Das said. The RBI governor also launched RuPay credit card on UPI and cross-border bill payments.

As far as the Central Bank Digital Currency (CBDC) is concerned, the RBI is now working towards a phased implementation of it in both wholesale and retail segments. This is expected to give further fillip to the digital ecosystem.

Earlier, speaking at the fintech festival, finance minister Nirmala Sitharaman said inclusive financial programmes such as KYC via Aadhaar of the government and the UPI platform have helped revolutionise the network of the country. "We have led the way in being an inclusive financial world. Countries such as Singapore, Bhutan are seeing the use of RuPay cards and the UPI," Sitharaman said.

CAs' involvement in Chinese shell cos probe to close in 3-4 months

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

THE Institute of Chartered Accountants of India (ICAI) will conclude the matter of alleged involvement of chartered accountants (CAs) in aiding Chinese entities in setting up shell companies or their subsidiaries in India in next three to four months, its president Debashis Mitra said on Tuesday.

The apex body of CAs will take strict action, including cancellation of their membership for whole life, in case they are found guilty, stated Mitra.

"We will conclude the matter in next three to four months. Though we have not been given any timeline by the Centre for its completion but they did indicate to wrap this up at the earliest. We may even cancel the membership of CAs if they are found guilty," Mitra added.

He added that the institute started getting complaints about their alleged involvement from the month of January this year. Together ICAI, The Institute of Cost Accountants of India(ICMAI) and the Institute of Company Secretaries of India (ICSI) have received complaints against 400 professionals, of which 50% are CAs.

"We have sent show cause notices to all the suspected members. We have sought explanations from them with regard to incorporation of several Chinese companies and shell companies," Mitra added.

He further said that papers were signed by CAs without doing proper verification of the registered address which doesn't exist and that is an act of negligence on their part. The statement comes after the Serious Fraud Investigation Office (SFIO) arrested Dortse, an alleged mastermind of Chinese shell companies in India recenty.

Raids were conducted at various places in Gurgaon, Bengaluru, and Hyderabad. These were the offices of Jillian Consultants India Private Ltd, a wholly owned subsidiary of Jilian Hong Kong Ltd in Gurgaon; Fininty Pvt Ltd in Bengaluru; and Husys Consulting Ltd, former listed company in Hyderabad. Dortse is on the Board of Jillian India Ltd.

Adani pledges $13 billion shares of ACC, Ambuja

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

DAYS after acquiring ACC and Ambuja Cements, Adani Group has pledged shares worth nearly $13 billion in the two cement units.

The pledged shares of ACC and Ambuja were worth over ₹1 lakh crore based on Tuesday's closing prices and accounted for a 57% stake in ACC and a 63% stake in Ambuja Cements.

Deutsche Bank AG's Hong Kong branch, which is the agent for the pledged shares in ACC and Ambuja, made the disclosure to India's stock exchanges.

The Group in May has announced the acquisition of Holcim's cement businesses (ACC and Ambuja) in India for $10.5 billion to become the country's largest cement manufacturer in one go. The port-to-power conglomerate on September 16 announced that it has successfully completed the acquisition.

After the takeover, Adani Group chairman Gautam Adani said they expect a significant margin expansion to become the most profitable cement manufacturer in the country.

Not only becoming the most profitable cement company, Adani also indicated they would strive to become the country's largest cement manufacturer by taking its capacity to 140 million tonnes, from 70 million tonnes, in the next five years. To achieve this capacity target, the Group is infusing ₹20,000 crore in Ambuja Cements.

SpiceJet sends 80 pilots on leave without pay

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

LOSS-MAKING airline SpiceJet has sent nearly 80 pilots on leave without pay for three months. The Gurugram-based carrier, which has been making losses for the past four years, is actively scouting for funds to stay afloat.

Currently, SpiceJet is operating not more than 50% of its capacity, following a July 27 order of the Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA) that restricted its departure limit by half approved under the summer schedule after a spate of mid-air technical glitches.

This means the airline has more pilots than it requires and given its shaky financials, the airline is left with fewer options to cut its employee expenses. "The measure, in line with SpiceJet's policy of not retrenching any employee, which the airline steadfastly followed even during the peak of the Covid pandemic, will help rationalise the pilot strength vis-a-vis the aircraft fleet," said SpiceJet in a statement.

A senior pilot with SpiceJet said that many of his colleagues, including him, are trying to get into Air India, now run by Tata Group, owing to better future prospects. "Even if not Air India, many of us would settle for Akasa or IndiGo. It is very difficult to manage our expenses and our lives with this sort of uncertainty," he said on the condition of anonymity.

SpiceJet had in 2019 inducted more than 30 aircraft following the grounding of the 737 MAX aircraft. At present, SpiceJet has 90-odd planes in its fleet.

The airline had continued with its planned pilot induction programme in the hope that the MAX would be back in service soon. However, the prolonged grounding of the MAX fleet resulted in a large number of excess pilots at SpiceJet.

"We will be inducting MAX aircraft shortly and these pilots will be back in service as the induction begins. During the LWP period, pilots will remain eligible for all other employee benefits," SpiceJet said.

Even after placing certain pilots on leave without pay, SpiceJet said it will have sufficient number of pilots to operate its full schedule as and when the DGCA restriction on flights is lifted.

The summer schedule is effective from March 27 to October 29. Last few years have been very uncertain for pilots and aviation industry employees. After the closure of Jet Airways in 2019 that stranded thousands of its employees, the covid-19 pandemic led to severe pay cuts, and prolonged leaves without pay.

Sensex, Nifty gain nearly 1%, despite fears of steep interest rate hike by Fed

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

INDIAN Equity benchmark indices -- Nifty and Sensex -- ended nearly 1% higher on Tuesday, despite fears that the US Federal Reserve may announce a steep rate hike of 0.75-1% on Wednesday. While most Asian equity indices closed the Tuesday session with noticeable gains, the Wall Street shed up to 1.5% during early trading hours of Tuesday.

The BSE Sensex climbed 578.51 points to end at 59,719.74 while the Nifty 50 shut shop 194 points higher at 17,816.25. Both the indices had opened over 0.5% higher and rallied on the back of sustained buying seen across pharma and financial stocks. Eyes are now on the Fed meet outcome. While some experts say the markets are fully pricing in a rate hike of at least 75 basis points, there are many who feels a correction is bound to happen even if the Fed doesn't go for a full percentage rate hike. On Wednesday, the Federal Reserve and Bank of Japan will announce their interest rate decision, followed by the Bank of England on Thursday. "Money moves away from emerging markets when US rates are higher. The 30 years US Treasury bill is set to return 4.5% after the coming rate hike. For institutional investors, it does not make sense to keep money in Indian equities, which are already richly valued, has a weak currency, and high inflation," said Suman Bannerjee, CIO, Hedonova, an AIF firm investing in alternative assets such as NFTs, crypto and P2P lending.

Fed chair Jerome Powell has indicated a steep rate hike to tame the rising inflation and avoid a possible recession. A higher than expected inflation data for the month of August in the US further augmented the fact the rate hike cycle is here to say. This, as per market experts, will tighten liquidity in the equity markets worldwide and is a big negative for emerging markets such as India where foreign investor participation is very prominent.

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

THE board of Yes Bank has approved the sale of stressed loan portfolio of ₹48,000 crore to asset reconstruction company JC Flower ARC. The bank informed the exchange on Tuesday.

ICC makes saliva ban permanent

The use of saliva to polish the ball was on Tuesday banned permanently as the ICC announced a slew of changes to its Playing Conditions, which will come into effect on October 1. The game's governing body also changed running out of the non-striker by the bowler from the 'Unfair Play' section to the 'Run out' section.

LOOKING DEAD AT THE DEATH

Missed catches and poor bowling in the end overs from India help Australia chase 209

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @ Chennai

Captain Rohit Sharma was helpless in the end overs as India conceded 15, 22 & 16 runs between overs 17-19 at Mohali | SPORTZPICS

WHEN it comes off for Matthew Wade, he looks like a million bucks. At his last match at The Hundred for Birmingham Phoenix on August 30, he showed no mercy to the bowlers, scoring 81 off 42 (11x4, 2x6). He was in a similar mood for Australia in their first T20I against India at Mohali on Tuesday. Chasing 209, the wicket-keeper, reduced a very stiff asking rate at the death to levels that would be frowned upon in book cricket. The last 12 balls he faced read 4, 1, 4, 1, 6, 1, 6, 2, 1, 4, 4, 4. He began the carnage with Australia needing 55 off 24 balls. When he was done with giving Bhuvneshwar Kumar and Harshal Patel a headache experienced previously by Shaheen Shah Afridi at the T20 World Cup, the task was two off six balls. The Indian bowlers had another off day and the visitors chased down a stiff 209 with five balls and four wickets to spare.

From an Indian perspective, they will chalk this loss down to the bowlers not getting the control they usually have in this format of the game. Without Jasprit Bumrah's expertise, these matches tell the team management what the others are made of. Looking at this loss — and the Asia Cup — there will be alternate plans being lined up before the team departs for the World Cup in Australia in less than a month's time.

One of those plans could be revisiting how they approach death bowling. While Bumrah is a lock, they still need the others to deliver. After enjoying a fine comeback post injury troubles, Bhuvneshwar has now been involved in a couple of iffy spells at the death. The wide off stump yorkers weren't even attempted and they missed their length. On a pitch where the margin for error was miniscule, they travelled the distance. The 14 overs bowled by the four seamers ended up costing 150 runs for just two wickets. That 53 off those 150 runs came in three overs bowled at the death by Bhuvneshwar and Harshal Patel would not have pleased the team management.

However, there were some significant plus points for the Rohit Sharma-led team under the Mohali lights. Invited to bat first on a batting wicket, KL Rahul — yes, him, — took the initiative. He let the natural stroke maker in him take centrestage. End result? A hedonistic 35-ball 55 (4x4, 3x6) gave the hosts the perfect platform for the finishers to capitalise. If Rahul's innings provided the initial thrust, Pandya's thrilling end-overs assault bookended an ideal T20 innings.

What makes Pandya an elite finisher is he is generally match-up proof apart from the ball turning away. After taking 10 balls for 18, he completely opened up as the innings was approaching endgame. It helps that for his brute upper body strength, he also has a delightful touch game. With the third man up for Nathan Ellis, he delicately opened the face to run it down to the vacant region for a boundary.

Then, it was the turn of Pat Cummins to disappear as he endured another disappointing night in this format (0/47 off four). After polishing off the entree, he saved the dessert for last, depositing Green for three back-to-back sixes to close out the innings. One travelled in front off square on the leg side. One disappeared over long off. The last was greeted by the fans behind third man.

Sure, Green's radar was not working and all three balls were a 101 on how not to bowl at the death but it still needed to be hit and there's very few who are better at it right now than the man who wears 33 for the national team. Unfortunately for India, the Indian bowlers too served up a 101 on how not to bowl at the death.

Brief scores: India 208/6 in 20 ovs (Rahul 55, Suryakumar 46, Pandya 71 n.o; Ellis 3/30, Hazlewood 2/39) lost to Australia 211/6 in 19.2 ovs (Green 61, Wade 45 n.o, Axar 3/17).

Not judging myself only on runs I make: Gaikwad

ASHOK VENUGOPAL @ Chennai

> I think in a player's career there will be ups and downs so I just try to make sure that I keep progressing as a human being, as a player, as a cricketer with whatever help I can get from the support staff.
> Ruturaj Gaikwad, opener

INDIA A after beating New Zealand A in the unofficial Test series will be looking forward to beating the visitors in the three limited overs matches lined up at the MA Chidambaram Stadium from Thursday.

The India A team had a long and strenuous practice session under the watchful eyes of National Cricket Academy chief VVS Laxman and former Indian spinner and coach Sairaj Bahutule.

Laxman himself personally gave throw downs till late in the evening and even the likes of Shardul Thakur benefitted from the former batter's drills.

Ruturaj Gaikwad, who had a long stint in the nets, was happy to be at his 'home ground'. He was at ease at the den of Chennai Super Kings and was looking forward to enjoy his game against New Zealand A in the three limited overs games.

With the team for the T20 World Cup in Australia selected, many in the current India A team would sulk at the lost opportunity. But not Gaikwad, who knows the reasons for his omission and just wants to have game time.

''I think I obviously can't replace the top three (Indian team for World Cup). Obviously I am not thinking much about that. And about game time it's been a long time. So obviously, even in the Tests, there was a great opportunity to play. Even in the one-day games looking forward to a good opportunity to play and spend some time here and just enjoy,'' said Gaikwad.

"I think in a player's career there will be ups and downs so I just try to make sure that I keep progressing as a human being, as a player, as a cricketer with whatever help I can get from the support staff. So I think the main goal is to be keep on improving each and every day, you go out for practice sessions, you try and improve in that and you try and rectify mistakes, and just keep improving," he added.

In the third unofficial Test at M Chinnaswamy Stadium, Gaikwad made a century in the first innings and scored 94 in the second in India A's big win. For a player mostly seen as a white-ball specialist, these knocks proved he can do it with red-ball too.

''I think it was good, because I got to spend some time in the wicket especially. Obviously I was playing red ball after a very long time. So it was a bit challenging for me. The first two innings I played I got out early. But you know I was happy that I made progress in the last two innings where I got some runs. I am not judging myself only by runs I made. There was a change in the mindset and there was change in thought process. And so I can say that I made progress from the first two innings to the second,'' explained Gaikwad on his red-ball experience.

Laxman was a technically sound batsman, who was a delight to watch as a stroke maker. For most part of his career he played with panache under pressure with the tail. A lot of cricketers have benefitted from interacting with him at the NCA.

"I think Laxman sir has always been great support. From what I have seen him he doesn't go too much into technical aspects into a lot of people. And personally also he has been a great support throughout the time. He is someone who gives you a lot of confidence. And makes sure that you know how to back your ability," said Gaikwad.

Yashaswini's eventful journey continues

FIROZ MIRZA @ Chennai

IT was not the start young paddler Yashaswini Ghorpade wanted even as her team Karnataka began its campaign on a winning note against Uttar Pradesh at the 36th edition of the National Games in Surat, Gujarat on Tuesday. In Karnataka's 3-2 win, 18-year-old Yashaswini suffered both losses.

Next up in the women's team event of Group B were West Bengal. Karnataka lost the first tie with Tokyo Olympian Suthirtha Mukherjee beating Khushi Viswanath. Yashaswini too lost to the Ayhika Mukherjee as Bengal inch closer to victory. Maria Rony then registered a comeback win over veteran Mouma Das thus bringing the focus back on Yashaswini, who was scheduled to meet Suthirtha. She lost two of the first three games but rallied back to beat her more illustrious opponent.

The two rounds of the women's table tennis team event at Pt Deendayal Upadhyaya Indoor Stadium are apt enough to define the short but eventful journey of Yashaswini. Despite winning matches at the state level events, the success couldn't translate itself at the national level in the initial years. There was a time when she even decided to quit the sport. However, her parents — Geeta and Deepak Ghorpade — along with coach Anshuman Roy made sure she hang around.

"Initially, things were not falling in place but my coach kept pushing me. He motivated me to work hard. My parents also supported me a lot to ride out of the storm," the paddler told this daily.

Fitness was the big issue and Roy asked her to work with VR Beedu, the Dronacharya award-winning athletics coach. The move paid off as Yashaswini started getting desired results. The improved show meant her trophy cabinet started filling up with the most recent achievement coming at the Asian Junior and Cadet Championships in Laos earlier this month. She achieved twin feats at the event by becoming the first Indian woman to pocket an U-19 singles bronze and then clinching U-19 mixed doubles gold with Payas Jain. Given all successes in the last couple of years, the paddler's immediate goal is to break into the senior side. And the ongoing National Games seem to be a perfect platform for her to push her case.

TN women enter medal round

With two wins in three rounds, Tamil Nadu women sealed their place in the medal round. Delhi's men thumped Haryana 3-0 to ensure a medal for them in Group A after Gujarat kept a clean slate to become the group topper. .

South, North in the zone ahead of final

GOMESH S @ Coimbatore

Pitch for the Duleep Trophy final to be played at the SNR College Grounds | EXPRESS

WHEN Duleep Trophy was introduced for the first time in the 1961-62 season, the final between West Zone and South Zone at the Brabourne Stadium in Mumbai was a low-scoring affair. West Zone, who share the most titles (18) with North, trumped South by 10 wickets in the four-day encounter.

60 years on, as the zonal format returns for the first time in over seven years, the two teams will be taking on each other for the twelfth time in a final. Through the course of this tournament, players from almost every zone have spoken about the zonal format and how there is a sense of identity attached to it which brings the team together. Although some of the West Zone players have experienced this format, among those who are playing in the tournament this season, only South Zone skipper Hanuma Vihari has featured in a final (2014-15) before.

"I feel the boys are really excited playing in the tournament because the South Zone is something we all take pride in and look forward to playing for," said Vihari on Tuesday. Echoing the sentiment was West Zone captain Ajinkya Rahane: "West Zone is known to play as a unit and everyone contributed from game No. 1. We just want to be in the moment, take positives from the last two games and play this one."

West Zone have added to their batting strength as Shreyas Iyer, Priyank Panchal and Sarfaraz Khan have joined the squad after completing the India A assignment. With only two days between the semifinal and the final, pacers — Jaydev Undakat and Atit Seth — did not bowl in the nets on the eve of the match.

In the South Zone nets, it was a familiar sight of what happened during the semifinal as Sai Kishore sent down a long spell to Mayank Agarwal and Devdutt Padikkal. Much like West Zone, there's no dearth of stars in South as well with some proven customers like Mayank, Vihari, Manish Pandey, and Baba Indrajith in the batting department.

Perhaps, the difference between the two teams lies in the bowling attack, which could well be the deciding factor in the contest. Unadkat and Seth have led the wickets tally for West Zone, whereas South have relied heavily on spinners. In the clash against North, they bowled just 11 overs of pace in 97.4 overs.

However, the conditions at the SNR College Cricket Ground are expected to be a lot different from Salem and it would be interesting to see how they adapt. A lot will ride on how Sai Kishore, K Gowtham, and Tanay Thyagarajan go about their business over the next five days.

IOA Sr V-P Anand says won't attend IOC meet

INDRANEEL DAS @ Chennai

IN an interesting development, senior vice-president RK Anand, one of the three members supposed to go to Lausanne for a meeting with the International Committee on September 27, has expressed his inability to board the flight. Anand, a senior administrator in the IOA, told this newspaper that he will not go because of health reasons.

Anand said that he had contracted Covid earlier and since then he had not been in good health. "I am not well and due to health reasons I will not be able to go and attend the meeting," he said. He was one of the members who had been trying to find a way out of this mess. It needs to be seen who would board the flight if Anand doesn't go. IOA officials too are in a spot. Though the IOA is locked in a bitter fight between two factions, Anand is considered one of the more acceptable faces in the IOA. It needs to be seen if he could be persuaded to change his mind.

The IOC had sent a letter after its Executive Board meeting on September 8 and warned IOA that it will be suspended if elections are not held as per existing constitution and under the provisions of the IOC Charter. It also proposed a joint meeting on September 27 and said that IOA secretary general Rajeev Mehta will be the main point of contact. Mehta later told this newspaper that three members from the IOA would be going to Lausanne -- Mehta and the two senior vice-presidents Anand and Anil Khanna.

Things might take an interesting turn after the Supreme Court's order on Monday. According to the order by the division bench of Justices DY Chandrachud and Hima Kohli, "two broad suggestions have been placed before the Court by the Solicitor General". This was in response to an SLP filed by the IOA and application by senior advocate Rahul Mehra. Now, it is not sure whether the three, as Mehta said, would even be able to go to Lausanne.

DRAMA CONTINUES...

Carlsen resigns after one move against Niemann

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @ Chennai

ARJUN Erigaisi enjoyed an almost perfect day to be on top of the leaderboard after eight rounds of the Julius Baer Generation Cup, an online Rapid event. But all the drama, not for the first time, was again reserved for what happened — or did not — in the match between Hans Niemann and Magnus Carlsen (the event is part of the Meltwater Champions Chess Tour).

Just because of the previous recent history between the two players (the Norwegian had withdrawn from the Sinquefield Cup a day after the US player beat him before the former, in a thinly veiled tweet, hinted at some kind of foul play), this was the most exciting match-up on Monday. True to form, the Classical world Champion, with black pieces, made one move (Nf6) before staging a protest resignation. Later in the day, he logged back on to beat Levon Aronian before holding R Praggnanandhaa.

His protest act set off another round of feverish speculation in the chess world. While a fair few Grandmasters called on the Norwegian to come out with evidence against the 19-year-old Niemann, Carlsen's Norway teammate, Jon-Ludvig Hammer, wasn't in the mood for any niceties. He labelled Carlsen's move as 'most unsportsmanlike thing' ever. "It's the most unacceptable behavior to lose on purpose," he said on Norwegian TV. "The most unsportsmanlike thing you can do."

Magnus Carlsen

Aronian claimed that the 31-year-old Carlsen may have a case. "I understand that frustration of Magnus," he was quoted as saying by chess24.com. "Now I am somewhere in the middle. I do believe Hans has not been the cleanest person when it comes to online chess. But he's a young guy, hopefully, this will be a lesson to him not to do any bad things online. Generally, I think this is a problem that requires a solution — and there are solutions." Post Carlsen's tweet, Hikaru Nakamura, world No 6, revealed that Niemann has been banned before from online games on chess.com for cheating (Niemann confirmed this in an interview but denies further wrongdoing).

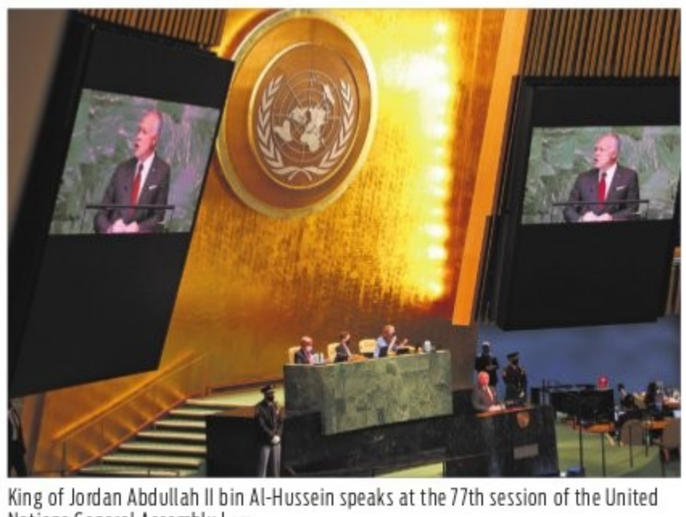
Some others questioned why Niemann was even featuring in this event but Tour Director, Arne Horvei, had explained their position. "It says that if you are amongst the top eight players from the last tournament you are automatically invited to the next tournament. In Miami, we had eight players there and Hans participated. So he was automatically sent an invite to this event. That invite was sent well before the tournament in St Louis (Sinquefield Cup) started so it means that we sent that invite to him. After the commotion, which of course we have been following closely, we saw that there has been no indication of Hans Niemann being involved in any sort of cheating in the Meltwater Champions Chess Tour so there was no reason for us whatsoever based on allegations back and forth to revoke his invitation."

Horvei also gave a clean chit to Niemann as far as games on Tour are concerned. "We have been closely analysing many games in the Tour so far and there has been no indication in his games that he has been involved in any cheating."

A nighttime bus crash that killed 27 people in southwest China this week has set off a storm of anger online over the harshness of the country's strict Covid-19 policies. The initial police report did not say who the passengers were and where they were going, but it later emerged they were headed to a quarantine location outside their city of Guiyang, the capital of Guizhou province.

Winter of discontent on the horizon: UN chief

Germany vows to support countries hardest hit by fallout from the war



King of Jordan Abdullah II bin Al-Hussein speaks at the 77th session of the United Nations General Assembly | AFP

SUMMIT

UNITED NATIONS: The United Nations' massive global summit returned on Tuesday with a stark warning from the world body's chief of an upcoming "winter of global discontent" from rising prices, a warming planet and deadly conflicts.

After two years of pandemic restrictions and video addresses, UN General Assembly again asked leaders to come in person if they wish to speak—with a sole exception made for Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelensky.

UN Secretary-General Antonio Guterres, while saluting efforts for global cooperation, warned of a dire state of the planet. "A winter of global discontent is on the horizon," Guterres said as he opened the annual General Assembly.

With global temperatures rising and a chunk of Pakistan the size of the United Kingdom recently under water, Guterres lashed out at fossil fuel companies and the "suicidal war against nature."

He called on all developed economies to tax profits from fossil fuels and dedicate the funds both to compensate for damage from climate change and to help people struggling with high prices. "Polluters must pay," Guterres said.

The summit was disrupted after the death of Queen Elizabeth II, with President Joe Biden, by tradition the second speaker on the opening day, instead due to speak on Wednesday.

Day one features French President Emmanuel Macron and German Chancellor Olaf Scholz, the leaders of the two largest economies of the European Union, which has mobilised to impose tough sanctions over Russia's invasion of Ukraine.

"This year, Ukraine will be very high on the agenda. It will be unavoidable," top EU diplomat Josep Borrell said. "There are many other problems, we know. But the war in Ukraine has been sending shock waves around the world."

German Foreign Minister Annalena Baerbock vowed to support countries hardest hit by the fallout from the war.

Russian Foreign Minister Sergei Lavrov was visiting despite a hostile reaction from the United States.

With the Ukraine war leading to a global grain crisis, hunger is another major issue on the agenda. More than 200 NGOs called for urgent action from leaders gathered for the General Assembly to "end the spiraling global hunger crisis."

Other leaders to speak on Tuesday included Turkish President Recep Tayyip Erdogan, who has staked out ground as a broker between Russia and Ukraine, including through a deal to ship out badly needed grain to the world. Erdogan is also expected to meet in New York with Israeli Prime Minister Yair Lapid.

US Secretary of State Antony Blinken convened a first meeting of the foreign ministers of Azerbaijan and Armenia since a flare-up in fighting.

Also high on the agenda will be Iran, whose president, Ebrahim Raisi, is traveling to the General Assembly for the first time and met Tuesday with France's Macron.

Germany's climate action

Germany remains committed to phasing out coal as a source of power by 2030 even as it reactivates coal-fired power plants, the country's climate envoy said on Monday.

3 Bloops

An 11-second audio snippet of this strike includes three "bloops," as NASA calls them, one of sounding like metal flapping loudly in the wind here on Earth

WAITING TO DETECT AN IMPACT

"After three years of InSight waiting to detect an impact, those craters looked beautiful," Brown University's Ingrid Daubar, a co-author of the research paper in the journal Nature Geoscience, said in a statement

1,300 marsquakes

Launched in 2018, InSight has already detected more than 1,300 marsquakes

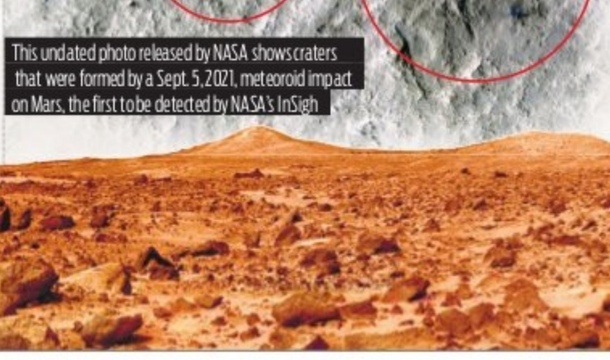
MARS'S PROXIMITY TO ASTEROID BELT

The InSight team expected to pick up numerous meteoroid strikes, given Mars' proximity to the asteroid belt and the planet's thin atmosphere, which tends to keep entering space rocks from burning up

MISSED A FEW IMPACTS

But the lander's French-built seismometer may have missed impacts because of interfering noise from the Martian wind or seasonal changes in the atmosphere

Now scientists know what to look for, according to NASA, likely resulting in a surge of detections



This undated photo released by NASA shows craters that were formed by a Sept. 5, 2021, meteoroid impact on Mars, the first to be detected by NASA's InSigh

SEIS seismometer of the InSight lander

LARGEST MARSQUAKE

The largest measured a magnitude 5 earlier this year. By comparison, the marsquakes generated by the meteoroid impacts registered no more than a magnitude 2

EXPLODED IN THREE PIECES The first confirmed meteoroid exploded into at least three pieces, each leaving its own crater.

CLOCKS OF THE SOLAR SYSTEM "Impacts are the clocks of the solar system," French lead author Raphael Garcia said in a statement from the Higher Institute of Aeronautics and Space in Toulouse. "We need to know the impact rate today to estimate the age of different surfaces."

Elon Musk's SpaceX wants to bring satellite internet to Iran

SPACE

WASHINGTON: SpaceX will apply for an exemption from US sanctions against Iran in a bid to offer its satellite internet service to the country, owner Elon Musk said on Monday.

"Starlink will apply for an exemption from sanctions against Iran," Musk said in response to a tweet from a science reporter.

Musk had initially announced that the Starlink satellite internet service had been made available on every continent with the company planning to launch up to 42,000 satellites to boost connectivity.

Iranian-born science journalist Erfan Kasraie had said that bringing the service to Iran could be a "real game changer for the future" of the country. Starlink offers high-speed broadband service to customers in areas poorly served by fixed and mobile terrestrial networks through a constellation of satellites in low earth orbit.

One person dies of hunger every 4 sec

CRISIS

GENEVA: One person is estimated to be dying of hunger every four seconds, over 200 NGOs warned on Tuesday, urging decisive international action to "end the spiralling global hunger crisis".

In an open letter addressing world leaders gathering in New York for the United Nations General Assembly (UNGA), 238 organisations from 75 countries, including Oxfam, Save the Children and Plan International expressed outrage at skyrocketing hunger levels.

"A staggering 345 million people are now experiencing acute hunger, a number that has more than doubled since 2019," they said in a statement.

"Despite promises from world leaders to never allow famine again in the 21st century, famine is once more imminent in Somalia. Around the world, 50 million people are on the brink of starvation in 45 countries," they said.

Pointing out that as many as 19,700 people are estimated to be dying of hunger every day, the NGOs said that this translates to one person dying of hunger every four seconds.

"It is abysmal that with all the technology in agriculture and harvesting techniques today we are still talking about famine in the 21st century," Mohanna Ahmed Ali Eljabaly from the Yemen Family Care Association, one of the letter's signatories, said in the statement. "This is not about one country or one continent and hunger never only has one cause. This is about the injustice of the whole of humanity," he said.

"We must not wait a moment longer to focus both on providing immediate lifesaving food and longer-term support so people can take charge of their futures and provide for themselves and their families."

Earlier, UN food chief David Beasley, warned that the world is facing "a global emergency of unprecedented magnitude," with up to 345 million people marching toward starvation and 70 million pushed closer to starvation by the war in Ukraine. He said it is troubling 50 million of those people in 45 nations are suffering from very acute malnutrition and are "knocking on famine's door."

Disputed field key to Israel's energy

ENERGY

JERUSALEM: Israel is preparing to activate an offshore gas field near its disputed maritime border with Lebanon, aiming to boost energy exports to Europe but risking further tensions with its northern neighbour.

Israel and Lebanon, still technically at war, have engaged in on-off US mediated talks since 2020 to delineate their Mediterranean border, which could allow both countries to boost offshore natural gas exploration.

But the Karish gas field has emerged as a potential pitfall.

Israel says that Karish, licensed to London-listed company Energean, is located entirely within its exclusive economic zone.

Lebanon has claimed that part of the field falls within its own waters. The powerful Lebanese Shiite movement Hezbollah launched unarmed drones towards Karish in July, after Energean brought a production vessel into the field. It has threatened attacks if Israel proceeds with extraction.

Israeli officials have said Hezbollah threats over Karish would not deter production, insisting that control over field was not open to discussion.

FACT OF THE MATTER

Twilight of the Tigris river

ENVIRONMENT

It was the river that is said to have watered the biblical Garden of Eden and helped give birth to civilisation itself. But today the Tigris is dying. Human activity and climate change have choked its once mighty flow through Iraq, where—with its twin river the Euphrates—it made Mesopotamia a cradle of civilisation thousands of years ago. Iraq may be oil-rich but the country is plagued by poverty after decades of war and by droughts and desertification. From April on, temperatures exceeded 35° Celsius and sandstorms often turned the sky orange and covered the country in a film of dust. The Tigris, has been choked by dams, most of them upstream in Turkey, and falling rainfall.

Sarcophagus unveiled

HISTORY

Egypt unveiled on Monday a sarcophagus of a senior royal official from over 3,200-years ago at the Saqqara archaeological site south of Cairo, the latest in a series of discoveries in the area. A team of Egyptian archaeologists from Cairo University found the red granite sarcophagus of Ptah-em-uya, "a high-ranking official" under Rameses II, who ruled Egypt in 13th century BC. The noble was royal secretary, chief overseer of cattle, head of the treasury of Ramasseum. The official was also "responsible for the divine offerings to all the gods of Upper and Lower Egypt", Waziri added. The tomb of Ptah-em-uya was found last year.

ART IMITATES LIFE

Lebanon's past echoes its grim present in exhibition

ART

BEIRUT: In a war-scarred Beirut heritage house turned museum, archives of Lebanon's troubled past fuse with artistic depictions of its grim present to portray a country seemingly in perpetual turmoil.

Newspaper clippings, film negatives and diary entries from the years before Lebanon's 1975-1990 civil war tell a story of government corruption, public sector strikes and student protests.

They are shown alongside contemporary pictures, video footage and art installations illustrating today's Lebanon, in the grip of political paralysis and its worst ever economic crisis. "Allo, Beirut?", which premiered on Thursday and runs until 2023, seeks to map out the decades-old rot at the heart of Lebanon's downward spiral, said the exhibition's director Delphine Abirached Darmency.

"Beirut is suffering, we are suffering," she said, arguing that much of Lebanon's misery is rooted in the problems of a bygone era. The exhibit was born in part from the discovery of the archives of late billionaire Jean Prosper Gay-Para, who owned the once-famous Les Caves du Roy nightclub and is widely regarded as a symbol of Lebanon's pre-civil war golden era.

"Those sick minds, obsessed with making money," Gay-Para writes about the country's political elite, in a text on display. That sentiment is still widely shared by a population battered by the unprecedented economic crisis that is widely blamed on the country's business and political barons.

Gay-Para "was talking in the 1960s about what we are living today", Darmency said.

More than three decades after the devastating civil war, Lebanon is reeling from a financial crisis that has seen poverty spike as the currency has lost more than 90% of its value on the black market.

Beirut also remains scarred by the huge 2020 portside blast of a pile of ammonium nitrate that killed more than 200 people and compounded a population exodus of a similar scale to that of the civil war period.

In addition to the archive material, the show features installations by young Lebanese artists who were asked to express their feelings about their city.

Rawane Nassif made a short documentary about the Beirut neighbourhood she grew up in, and to which she returned this year after two decades.

"The movie depicts the condition of loss," she said "Beirut is in mourning. It is mourning the death of its people and the death of all the chances it once had."

1st Ebola death since '19 in Uganda

HEALTH

Uganda's health ministry on Tuesday announced the country's first fatality from Ebola virus since 2019, declaring an outbreak in the central district of Mubende. "The confirmed case is a 24 year old male... (who) presented with EVD symptoms and later succumbed," the ministry said on Twitter, using an abbreviation for Ebola virus disease. In a statement released earlier on Tuesday, the World Health Organization said a 24-year-old man in Mubende had tested positive for "the relatively rare Sudan strain" of the virus. "This follows an investigation by the National Rapid Response team of six suspicious deaths that have occurred in the district this month," WHO said. Eight other suspected patients were undergoing treatment. "This is the first time in more than a decade that Uganda is recording the Ebola Sudan strain," WHO Africa Director Matshidiso Moeti said.

'I WANTED TO BREAK THE MANI RATNAM STYLE'

...says the ace filmmaker, as he discusses his direction style, what keeps him going, and what went behind the making of his multi-starrer magnum opus, PS-1

Today, the audience has embraced the idea of duologies and trilogies, and this seemed like the perfect time to explore the format. If I had made the material as a single film, I would've been critical of myself for leaving out many details
Mani Ratnam

NAVEIN DARSHAN

THE journey of Ponniyin Selvan adaptations in our cinema can perhaps be likened to the long, arduous journeys undertaken in Kalki's novel. It appears that in every generation, there was a star who dreamt of adapting this enduring book. MGR wanted to adapt the novel, and many years later, Kamal Haasan had his eyes on the material as well. And despite the ambition of these powerful artistes, the project did not take off. But one man, it seems, didn't give up at all over the decades. And the result? PS-1, the first part of his duology, is set to grace our screens on September 30.

In many ways, even before this film has come out, we can safely say that director Mani Ratnam has done the unthinkable in a lot of ways. First, he has condensed the five-part book into a screenplay — considered an impossible task until now; he has assembled a massive star cast; and he has managed to finish work under a deadline on what must have been a directional, productional nightmare of a project. Here's more — he did all of this during a pandemic and has reportedly wrapped up shooting work on both installments. While any other filmmaker in his place would begin by discussing all the challenges suffered, Mani Ratnam calmly begins by saying, "I can't make a lesser film and expect the audience to be kind with it because it was shot during a pandemic. It is my job to deliver the results, and I believe I have done that." His main fear apparently was the fitness and health of his stars during the lockdown. "I would call everyone and remind them not to gain weight. The pandemic — like unexpected bad weather — was a situation that had to be dealt with. It must never be used as an excuse for a shoddy film."

He surprises by sharing that he is glad he couldn't do Ponniyin Selvan earlier. "Fitting Ponniyin Selvan into a single film was the biggest challenge I had when thinking of adapting. Today, the audience has embraced the idea of duologies and trilogies, and this seemed like the perfect time for me to explore the format. If I had made the material as a single film, I would have been critical of myself for leaving out so many details."

Mani Ratnam hopes to break what is thought of as 'Mani Ratnam style'. "Being unpredictable is my top priority. So, I try to avoid a distinct signature or style in my films. When someone starts finding a pattern in my work, I don't see it as a compliment; instead, I push myself harder to overwrite it," he says, "Each film dictates itself. I just have to ensure that none of my previous influences is infused into my current work." The veteran director shares that co-writing with Jeyamohan and Elango Kumaravel has resulted in a film that is fresh and highly accessible to the audience. "Though I had a lot of support from the source material of Kalki, co-writing made my work easier. It's not easy to ignore any chapter in the book; so, finding a common thread for the screenplay was vital. We have taken minor deviations from the original narrative, only to make it more interesting as a film."

Merging of cultures

Nrityagram Dance Ensemble in collaboration with Chitrasena Dance Company is coming up with 'Ahuti', on Sept. 25; dance will feature Odissi and Sri Lanka's Kandyan dance styles

EXPRESS FEATURES

ART and culture have a way of bringing people together and making it a smaller place. Bringing two cultures together, Nrityagram Dance Ensemble in collaboration with Chitrasena Dance Company is coming up with a choreography, Ahuti, which is happening on Sept. 25 at Chowdiah Memorial Hall. The collaboration will feature Odissi and Sri Lanka's Kandyan dance styles.

The entire performance is set to rhythms from both countries. The music is composed by Pandit Raghunath Panigrahi. While Odissi danseuse Surupa Sen is the artistic director, choreographer, and sound designer of the piece, Heshma Wignaraj from Chitrasena Dance Company is the associate choreographer, who has created the Kandyan dance part. Sen also leads the manjira for the show.

Wignaraja, who serves as the current artistic director of the company, says, "Ahuti has four different sections and is not one big story. It starts with Sankirtanam which is a full Odissi piece, next one is Aarti where there are four Odissi dancers and four Kandyan dancers; then there is Shiva Tandava and the alap. All these pieces make the production," explains Wignaraja. Chitrasena Dance Company is among Sri Lanka's oldest and most distinguished dance companies. Founded in 1943 by Guru Chitrasena, the company has been crucial in finding a modern, international stage for Sri Lanka's traditional dance forms.

Wignaraja has known Sen for 20 years. "From 2011, we have been invited to work with Nrityagram and that was the first time we collaborated. There was a time when Surupa di and her dancer had come to Sri Lanka for some research. Our relationship was very different and we had no intention of collaborating," she explains.

Ahuti premiered in 2019 which not only got rave reviews from the audience but also from the fraternity. The piece was then performed to full houses across several countries. It will now be performed in the city again after three years, before it heads to the international festival circuit. The piece is the second collaboration between the two companies after the highly-acclaimed 'Samhara' (2012).

FIT BIT

Parsva Upavistha Konasana variation

(SEATED SIDE STRADDLE POSE)

This is a wide-legged sitting yoga pose where the torso folds in a side bend towards the extended leg. This is a variation of the Upavistha Konasana, which helps to open the psoas muscles, improving the range of motion of the hips while in a side bend.

STEPS

- Assume Dandasana (Staff) pose. Keep your palms behind you and lean back over your body, spreading your legs as wide as you can.
- Take about 2-3 breaths, ensure the hips are opened equally outwards (external rotation), and the sit bones are grounded.
- Bring your hands to rest in front of you as you straighten your back taking it long upwards.
- Inhale and lift your right arm, extending beyond your shoulders and head, and take it to the other side.
- Engage the fingers and point the palms down. While doing this, make sure the sit bones are grounded, and the torso is not twisted.
- Place your left hand on the floor in front of the left leg (or even hold the left big toe), bending the elbows a bit.
- Exhale, and gently twist the head to look up while keeping the shoulders square.
- Stay in this side bend for about 2-3 breaths. With each exhalation go towards the left side as you lift the arms higher from the side chest and rib cage to feel the stretch in the side abdomen and side chest.
- Come back to Upavistha Konasana and relax for 1-2 breaths. Repeat the same procedure on the other side.
- Release and relax to come to sit back in Dandasana. As a counter practice, you can choose to do Paschimottansana.

BENEFITS

- Stretches the hip flexors, quadriceps muscles of side abdominal, pelvic floor, psoas, and the back.
- Spine is strengthened, the hip joints improve in stability.
- Minimises the stiffness of the outer hips.
- Stretches the gluteus maximus and hamstring muscles.
- Reduces the intensity of the stretch.
- Lengthens and strengthens the hips.
- Reduces tightness, keeping the body free of stress.
- Insomnia which is related to stress can also be controlled.
- Back and neck pain can be controlled.
- Helping with better stretching of the lower back.

LIMITATIONS

People recovering from injuries in joints, muscles, ligaments, knees etc. should best avoid this.

Not suited for people with heart ailments and tail bone pain.

SNIFFING OUT SOME 'PAWSOME' BOOKS

FLYLEAF
VR FEROSE

(The author is a technologist based in Silicon Valley who is gently mad about books)

I was not a pet person until I became a pet parent some months ago. It was a well-thought-out decision and we were fully aware of the lifestyle adjustments we would have to make (especially when travelling) to bring in our new family member. We had been looking for a service dog for my son with special needs. We finally got home a four-month-old English retriever 'Coco' and our lives have never been the same again!

Once I entered canine territory, many questions occupied my mind. Are dog people more likely to be extroverts than introverts? Can dogs talk? Why is calling a person a "dog" an insult in almost every language? Why do we say "The world has gone to the dogs"? So I started reading books with dogs as the subject. Here are some that are meant not just for those who love dogs but those who intend to adopt them.

Classic Dog Stories edited by Nancy Butler is a collection of 18 enduring tales by an impressive array of authors – from Mark Twain to Rudyard Kipling to Jack London. The Book of Dog edited by Himali Sodhi is a recent collection of 45 original pieces by some of India's leading writers, outstanding new voices, and individuals who have dedicated their lives to animal welfare. I loved every essay but my favourite was by Sri Lankan author Ashok Ferry.

Many parents get a dog primarily for their children, and Harry the Dirty Dog by Gene Zion is without doubt one of the most beloved children's books. The YouTube video of actor Betty White reading the book garnered more than 8 million views! Lessons from Lucy is a laugh riot – you can expect nothing less from Dave Barry – but it is also insightful and touching.

A must-read before becoming a dog parent is Wag: The Science of Making your Dog Happy by dog trainer and social psychologist Zazie Todd whose dos and don'ts of raising a dog I found extremely useful. When it came to scientific books, I absolutely loved Alexandra Horowitz's Being a Dog: Following the Dog in the World of Smell. Readers will feel that they have broken free from human constraints and understood smell as never before; that they have, however fleetingly, been a dog!

I was immediately drawn to How Stella Learnt to Talk by speech-language pathologist Christina Hunger. Since we use Augmentative and Alternative Communication (AAC) to communicate with our non-verbal son, I was curious to know whether the same techniques could be used for dogs.The author shares how she taught her dog to push buttons on a custom soundboard to form phrases up to five words in length – the same method she uses to teach children to speak and read. Finally, a less known but one of my favourites is Thurber's Dogs by James Thurber – a collection of short stories, articles and drawings on the subject.

When it came to fiction I watched movie adaptations of books instead of reading them. (However, The Friend by Sigrid Nunez is on my to-read list.) The Dogs Purpose, The Art of Racing in the Rain, Marley & Me and 101 Dalmatians are all wonderful adaptations of bestsellers.

The biggest lesson I have learnt from Coco so far is that dogs overflow with gratitude and never take us for granted. Every time I see her, however brief my absence has been, she greets me with quivering, unbounded joy! It's a wonder how a relationship between two species that began as entirely based on utility was transformed into something based on love. And maybe it's time we rethink the usage of 'going to the dogs'!

HOW DO WE SAVE THEATRES?

HRIDAY RANJAN
Urban Bourbon

(Writer, comedian)

THE Hindi film Brahmastra has been released in 8,000 screens worldwide, the highest ever for an Indian film. The makers of the film hope to bring audiences back to theatres en masse. With a handful of hits since 2020, Hindi cinema is struggling. Superstar vehicles are vanishing from public memory like India - Sri Lanka ODI tournaments. While Telugu and Kannada films are raking in the moolah, theatres running Hindi films resemble graveyards.

With its urban stories and existential questions, Bollywood has lost its connection with audiences. What was once the Hindi film industry is now the South Bombay industry. The pandemic years will also go down in history as watershed years that completely changed the tastes of audiences. We began watching Korean, Japanese, and European cinema with subtitles. Why go to a theatre when you can pause the screen, fast forward a boring scene, order food without sacrificing your kidneys, and go to bed immediately after the movie? Platforms like YouTube allow you to watch things that interest you. I spent hours watching an American man feed his bearded dragon, and a Korean lady who spends two hours eating massive meals.

So, how do we bring people back to the screens? I have an unpopular opinion on the topic. We need to go back to single-screen days. Two decades ago, going to a movie was a cinematic experience, not a shopping carnival. You didn't have to go to a mall, eat diabetes-inducing food, shop for clothes and toys, and then watch a movie. I recently watched a movie where in the interval, I was sold bike insurance and a pledge for eye-donation (which didn't seem like such a bad idea after watching the terrible movie!).

With exotic names like Liberty, Odeon, and Gaiety, single-screen theatres required you to turn up early and procure the tickets physically. If you were lucky, a family member could join the 'Ladies line' and expedite the process, or else you stood craning your neck over the shoulders of strangers. Entire families would turn up to watch a hit film. And if it was a flop, young couples would hanker for a 'side-seat' to get some privacy. Teachers from nearby schools would often conduct a raid on the theatres. They would flash a torch under the seats to look for anybody in a half-pant, and so students knew that they had to fold their legs on the chairs. Unlike today's audiences, people were more expressive. Good dialogues were accompanied by whistles, and bad scenes were mocked openly by aspiring stand-up comedians. The audiences sang the songs out, and danced when the hero was introduced on screen.

If theatres are to survive, they must make movie-watching a community experience again. Give whistles to people, and papers to throw into the air during a great scene. Allow people to dance in the aisles. Take a leaf out of Indian Railways' book – if couch seats are unbooked, upgrade regular viewers to give them a better experience. And bring back black-ticketing, in a legal-organised manner. When a film is housefull, allot bouncers to auction off the last 10 tickets in a theatre.

But how do theatres earn money then, you ask? Who says theatres can only earn money is by selling overpriced popcorn and coffee. Go old school – chai, filter coffee, samosas and egg-puffs. Or serve idli-vada in the interval – a tastier, cheaper, healthier option. A single biriyani isn't too bad an idea either. And for the love of god, hire writers, pay them better, and make better movies. There's nothing else that will draw people back to theatres.

NUGGETS

'I never imagined this kind of success'

He is now ten novels and three non-fiction books, five of his novels have been adapted into Hindi films. But there was a time when his first book Five Point Someone was rejected by publishers. Rupa Publications finally accepted it. The rest is history. "I had little hope from it. For me, it was just enough to get published," says author Chetan Bhagat. After the big screen, the author is focussing on his new Audible podcast where he interacts with accomplished Indians from different walks of life. A few years ago, Bhagat shifted from romantic to mysteries, which was to reinvent his writing. "It is more creatively satisfying when I do different things. If I am having fun, my readers will too. The Girl in Room 105, One Arranged Murder and 400 Days are my three mystery books." The author adds he has several ideas in his head all the time, and the ones that stick for a long time are then developed further, to see if they can indeed be converted into an entire book. - IANS

JAYARAM APPROACHED FOR SHIVARAJKUMAR'S GHOST

The heist thriller directed by Srini is waiting for a date confirmation from the popular star who is likely to mark his Sandalwood entry with this film

A SHARADHAA

SHIVARAJKUMAR is one of the busiest actors in Sandalwood, and the Century Star is currently in the last phase of shooting for his 125th film, Vedha, and has even completed a schedule for Yogarajbhat-Rockline Venkatesh's film, Karnataka Damanaka.

Meanwhile, Shivanna is also getting ready to shoot for Srini's Ghost in October. Bankrolled by Sandesh Productions, Ghost is billed as a heist thriller. The team is in the process of finalising the cast, and CE has learned that the makers have approached one of the top south Indian actors Jayaram to play a major role in the film. Our sources shared that the director met Jayaram, and the actor who has not worked in Sandalwood yet, might make his debut with this film. Jayaram is currently working on a couple of projects including director Shankar-Ram Charan's RC 15, and Mahesh Babu's film with Trivikram Srinivas.

Prashant Narayanan

The makers of Ghost have also brought multilingual actor Prashant Narayanan on board. The actor, who has worked predominantly in English, Hindi, Tamil, and Malayalam films, will mark his Sandalwood entry with Ghost. The cast also comprises Achyuth Kumar, Dattanna, and Avinash playing prominent characters.

The preparation work is going on for the project, and the team is coming up with a huge setup at the HMT factory and Minerva Mills, where there will be canning sixty per cent of the film. The exterior portions will be shot in Mysuru.

Ghost will have Arjun Janya scoring the music, and Tagaru DoP Mahendra Simha handling the cinematography for this film. Meanwhile, Shivarajkumar's project with Avane Sriman Narayana director Sachin will take off in 2023.

'I WANTED TO BE PART OF KANTARA, MORE FOR THE STORY THAN THE ROLE'

Multifaceted artiste Kishore talks about his upcoming film Kantara, working with like-minded people like Rishab Shetty, and more

A still from Kantara

CE FEATURES

KISHORE has been one of the few actors who traverse linguistic boundaries and is majorly sought after by various filmmakers from these industries. His next, Kantara, directed by Rishab Shetty, is set to hit the screens on September 30. Kishore's association with Rishab started way back in 2013 with Attahasa where the latter worked as an associate director. Kishore was also part of Rakshit Shetty's Ulidavaru Kandanthe (2014) that starred Rishab, and Katha Sangama, (2019) which was spearheaded by the actor-director. "We are like-minded people, and we are glad to be working together again," says Kishore.

Kishore asserts that he came onboard Kantara not just for the role but the story itself. "Kantara is an authentic representation of our land, the coast and its culture. We are at a time where we are understanding the importance of diversity, and it is nice when somebody is coming forward to reflect on the land they lived in since childhood. I'm glad to be part of the grandeur of Kantara," says Kishore.

Kishore plays the role of an honest officer, who is trying his best to protect the forest. "The character I play is caught in a tussle between the system, politics, and power on one side, and problems of the locals on the other end. He has to deal with a lot of ego clashes, and all of this makes for an interesting outlook. Kantara is about the human-nature conflict and revolves around forest protection, which is a topic very close to my heart," says the actor.

Kishore is known for effortlessly playing a hero, a villain, and supporting roles. When asked if he has a preference, Kishore says, "Actor is just a tool to tell a story, and I just like being part of the whole process. They cast me if I fit the role. If I do it effectively, they will give me an opportunity to explore another character, and that has been my life as an actor."

Does he think the roles coming his way justify his potential? "Some do, and some don't. Over a period of time and with experience, I have started coping up with it. As for how much of my talent they are able to use, it depends on the director's necessity. They will take whatever they want to, and what the role demands," he says.

Meanwhile, Kishore also plays a pivotal role in Mani Ratnam's Ponniyin Selvan : 1, which is also releasing on the same date. "Both the films have me playing prominent characters. To me, it is just being part of two good stories, and doing my job effectively," he says.

Is Kishore content with his learnings from the craft or does he still think his learning curve has a lot more in store? "I don't know whether an actor can ever be content because we always look for something new, and that has been the case with me too. There is no dearth of learning in my career," he signs off.

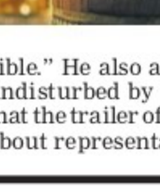
KISHORE TO MARK HIS HINDI DEBUT WITH RED COLLAR



Kishore, who is juggling between shooting for a film, and a political web series directed by Vasanthabalan, is currently in Lucknow shooting for his first Hindi film. Talking about the film, Kishore says, "Red Collar is the title, and it is going to be my first full-fledged Hindi film. It is directed by Rathavara director Chandrashekar Bandiyappa for the story penned by my friend and music composer Dharmendra (Dharma Vish). He has previously worked for music legend AR Rahman, and has also scored music for the film, Rathavara. This will be his first film. Red Collar is a collective effort, and friends have come together as part producers. Most of the team consists of people from Bengaluru, and we also have artistes coming from other parts of the country."

Ek Love Ya hero, Raana's next to be directed by Vijay Eshwar

CE FEATURES

RAANA, who made his debut with Prem's romantic drama Ek Love Ya, set the right standards right in his first film. The actor, who has been scouting for his next script, is said to have locked a subject and the director. The buzz is that Raana will be headlining a film, which will be helmed by debutant director Vijay Eshwar, an erstwhile assistant of Prem.

Having greenlit the project, the team have started the pre-production work, which also includes Raana working on a new look for the film.

We will have to wait to see if he'd play a lover boy or a mass hero in this project. An official confirmation of the project with other details is expected to be out soon.

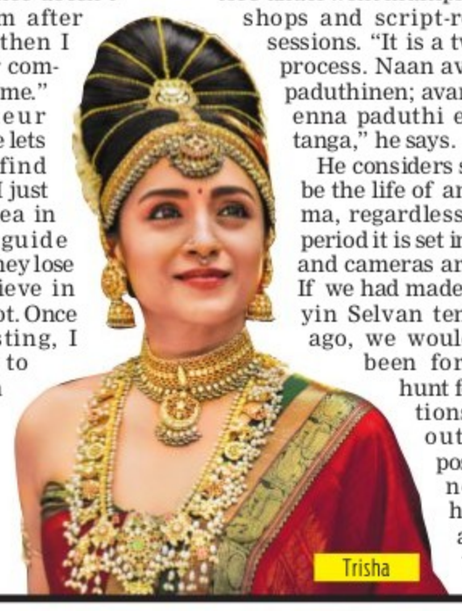
'New stories keep me going'

MANI Ratnam adds that using multiple-narrative techniques was essential in adapting Ponniyin Selvan into a cinema. "While a novel can have an entire page to explain the wave of emotions a character is going through, a film can only utilise body language and dialogues. So, we had to explain certain things directly, certain things indirectly and the rest in an intricate manner to ensure a gratifying viewing experience."

Mani Ratnam and the team apparently did extensive research to get both facts and fiction right. "As a significant portion of the novel is based on real history, our research team worked hard in getting the representation of the characters and locations right. For instance, the warriors in the film wear thick leather armour, instead of those made of metal. Also, we have humanised the characters as much as possible. You will see Arulmozhi Varman and Vandhiyathevan using Tamil in a way that's accessible." He also adds that he is undisturbed by any criticism that the trailer of PS-1 received about representation and CG. "The trailer is just a glimpse. So, it is open to interpretation. If the audience doesn't like the film after viewing it, then I will let their comments affect me."

The auteur states that he lets his actors find their path. "I just plant the idea in them and guide them when they lose track. I believe in my actors a lot. Once I finish casting, I trust actors to transform themselves and bring their characters to life." But this doesn't mean he went easy on them. The taskmaster made sure that his actors underwent multiple workshops and script-reading sessions. "It is a two-way process. Naan avangala paduthinen; avangalum enna paduthi eduthutanga," he says.

He considers story to be the life of any cinema, regardless of the period it is set in. "VFX and cameras are tools. If we had made Ponniyin Selvan ten years ago, we would have been forced to hunt for locations without lamp posts. But now, we have the advantage of VFX to shoot anywhere we want and cut down needless visuals."



Trisha

Mani Ratnam is a rare filmmaker for many reasons-among them, his ability to remain in the limelight for over four decades. The man who began his journey in 1983 with Pallavi Anupallavi seems to possess the same enthusiasm of a newcomer. What drives him? "I am driven by the desire to outdo my previous work. Telling stories in an honest manner and the urge to remain unpredictable keep me going," he says, adding that he finds new stories to tell every single day. "Suththi nadakkaradhu ellame oru pudhu kadhai dhaan. If we observe close enough, everything around us can be an influence. I will remain forever inspired to tell new stories."
